Work Outlined For Crime Unit

The new 12-member Governor's Crime and Delinquency Commission was handed its job assignment during its organizational meeting Monday.

Gov. Frank Morrison outlined a three-fold concept for the commission's work: development of human resources, stimulation of respect for law and order and recommendations for machinery for dealing with anti-social conduct.

Morrison said the state commission would coordinate its activities with its three national counterparts, which he named as the National Council on Crime and Delinquency, President's Commission on Law Enforcement, and the Joint Manpower and Training Commission.

The governor also noted that federal funds totalling $25,000 would be available for the commission's work.

Gordon's Stroll To Follow Flawless Space Tag

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — America's Gemini 11 astronauts, already in the record book, ended their first sleep in space "bright-eyed and bushy tailed" early Tuesday and prepared for some picture-taking and a weightless walk.

Charles Conrad Jr. and Richard F. Gordon Jr. masterfully hurdled the main goal of their three-day mission Monday when they caught up with the Agena target satellite before whirling once around the world.

Mission control roused the sleeping pilots at 12:55 a.m. (CST) after announcing, with no concern, that they had slept soundly only four of a scheduled eight hours but pronounced themselves "bright-eyed and bushy tailed."

"Away From Home"

Their fitful sleep, said Gemini Control, "is analogous to a traveler who is away from his home environment in a distant city for the first night."

The happy astronauts bedded down after completing the world's swiftest rendezvous and the first multiple docking with the target satellite as both vehicles sped 17,500 miles an hour.

The bold, 80-minute chase set the stage for Gordon's spacewalk Tuesday, a 115-minute venture outside the capsule which includes five minutes set aside for rest.

Overcoming two heart-breaking delays that grounded the astronauts for three days, Gemini 11 bolted flawlessly off a launch pad atop a Titan 2 rocket at 8:42 a.m. CST. It was only 1/2 second off the mark and hot on the Agena's tail.

With speed and precision, the talkative space twins charted their own course, catching the rocket satellite three quarters of the way around earth high over Hawaii.

"It's a big thrill," Conrad declared. "Very nice and thrilling."

"You're go for docking," he was told.

After link-up over the United States, officially called docking, Conrad barked loud and clear: "We are docked!"

Ions Measured

Less than an hour after the initial hookup, Conrad cautiously fired thrusters edging him away from the Agena. He then set out on a series of maneuvers taking the spacecraft all around the target as sensors measured any ions, electrified particles, left in the spacecraft's wake.

Officials want to know if a spacecraft leaves a wake, much like a boat, while sailing through space. If so, it might be possible to use the wake as a guide for rendezvousing.

Afterwards, Gordon, who sits to Conrad's right, tried his hand at docking. This too was a first — the first time anyone other than the command pilot — in this case, Conrad — had ever driven to a linkup.

It Works

Afterwards, they turned the two vehicles sideways in orbit, and while still linked triggered the Agena's big engine to make sure it worked. It did, shoving them slightly to the north, but not enough to seriously change their orbit.

Conrad complained that the spaceship's windows were dirty, even though they were protected during the fiery ride through the atmosphere by glass covers that flipped away automatically.

They were so smudged, in fact, Conrad asked permission for Gordon to "do something about them" during his walk Tuesday. Apparently, he meant that Gordon might be able to wipe them clean. "We'll think about it," mission control said.

NEGROES, NEWSMEN BEATEN

Whites Encircle Grenada School

... BOY MAULED; COP LOOKS

Grenada, Miss. (AP) — A throng of angry whites wielding ax handles, pipes and chains surrounded two public schools that were integrated Monday and attacked Negroes who tried to leave when classes were over.

A 12-year-old Negro youth ran a gauntlet of cursing whites for a full block, his face bleeding, his clothes torn. He finally escaped, limping.

Another boy was not so fortunate. As he tried to leave the school grounds, he was thrown to the sidewalk, kicked and beaten. "That'll teach you, nigger," yelled one white man. "Don't come back to-morrow."

The boy answered, "I didn't want to come here anyway. My mother sent me."

Cop Stands There — "You tell her if you come back here tomorrow, she'll be a dead nigger," the man responded. A city policeman who witnessed the violence made no move to help the boy, reportedly hospitalized with a broken leg.

The hostile crowd turned on newsmen and photographers, also. Two cameramen from Memphis were assaulted in the street, and a newsmen from Jackson was beaten by about 20 whites who slammed him to the ground and kicked him in the head.

Men did all the beating, but many women were present, cursing and yelling.

Classes were held for only half the day Monday. When the session was over, white students left with their parents, one by one. The Negroes stayed.

Look, Go Back — Two Negro mothers and four first-grade pupils walked as far as the edge of the school property. They took one look at the hostile whites and retreated to the school building.

Two state patrolmen, some Grenada policemen and Sheriff Suggs Ingram then entered the school while other policemen sat on the curb outside, talking.

About two hours after the white children left, the Negro children were taken out in groups of 25, led by the sheriff. Two highway patrol cars escorted the students as they marched down back streets in columns of twos to the Bell Flower Church, about one mile away.

The church is the headquarters for civil rights groups who became active this summer in Grenada when Dr. Martin Luther King held a voter registration drive here.

Shortly before the Negroes left the schools, the ax handle-clutching whites left to congregate around the town square.

150 Negroes — An estimated 150 Negroes desegregated the city's two all-white schools.

The 150 students entered unchallenged, but latecomers encountered the white antagonists. Two young girls tried to pass through the whites and were pushed to the ground. They fled to a church.

"Nigger, you better turn around, you ain't got enough guts to come down here," the whites shouted as they intercepted Negroes bound for school.

Radio Truck — A truck equipped with two-way radios cruised the area to alert the whites where to head off the Negroes.

The photographers who were attacked were Jack Cantrell and Jim Reid, of the Memphis Press Scimitar. Both men's cameras were smashed. Cantrell escaped by running to a nearby house. Reid was beaten in the street. The whites kept striking him even after a policeman led him away.

Robert Gordon, a reporter for United Press International, was walking down the street when someone yelled: "There's a reporter, get him."

As Gordon tried to talk to the crowd, a man took off a steel construction worker's helmet and hit the newsmen over the head. Gordon tried to seek refuge on the school grounds but was chased off by a constable. The crowd jumped Gordon and was kicking him in the face when a policeman walked up and said: "That's enough, stop it." As Gordon was led off, another policeman said laughingly to the crowd: "OK boys, he's had it."

In Washington, the Justice Department directed FBI agents to begin immediately to gather "any and all evidence" of violations of federal law in Grenada.

BIG BOULDER BREAKS BARRIER

This boulder, estimated to be 10 feet high, plunged through a wire restraining fence and came to rest just off Interstate 80, 20 miles west of Reno, in California, during an earthquake which struck eastern California and western Nevada Monday. Other boulders broke the barrier and landed on or hurled over the four-lane highway. No autos were struck.

Council Amends, OKs Key-In-Car Ordinance

By BOB SCHREIFF
Star Staff Writer

The city law requiring motorists to remove the key from passenger car ignitions is back on the books, this time in amended form.

Monday the City Council voted 5-2 in favor of Councilman John Comstock's amended version, which holds the owner or person in whose name the car is registered responsible for a violation if the identity of the driver cannot be determined.

Voting against the controversial ordinance were council members Mrs. Helen Rosalis and Lloyd Hinkley. In favor were Comstock, John Mason, Carroll Thompson, Ervin Peterson and John Selleck.

Another measure designed to repeal all existing "key-in-car" provisions was killed.

Recently the ordinance was declared unenforceable because evidence could not be obtained to support a conviction. The city prosecutor has dismissed 14 complaints against persons charged with the offense.

Comstock said Monday that his amendment "will cover every objection of the court and the traffic bureau."

Complaining that his position on the issue has been misunderstood, Comstock said he favors the ordinance for two reasons:

—To help the juvenile situation "in making it more difficult to steal cars or joyride."

—To help establish a negligence claim by persons injured or killed by a stolen car. Such persons have no recovery now, he said.

Comstock said the insurance companies favor the measure "like a good bunch of citizens" — even though it will cost them more money.

In response to a charge by C. E. Bates, who attended the hearing to oppose the ordinance, that it is "an invasion of the right of privacy" and "communistic control," the councilman declared, "I don't like the invasion of privacy anymore than anyone else, and that's been my record."

Asked if the new ordinance will be enforced after it is signed into law, Comstock said he wanted to "talk to the mayor about this . . . I don't want to put him on the spot."

He said he favored processing violations through the city traffic bureau, rather than demanding a court appearance, a procedure favored by Police Chief Joe Carroll.

Comstock said he feels the standard $7 fine, including court costs, "is too high."

Sufficient Signatures OKd For Liquor Vote

Lancaster County Election Commissioner B. J. Holcomb Monday certified sufficient signatures to place liquor-by-the-drink before Lincoln voters on Nov. 8.

A special committee of the Chamber of Commerce had filed 211 petitions containing 4,999 signatures with the city clerk, Miss Holcomb's office certified 3,592 signatures as valid. 3,376 were needed to bring the issue to a vote.

The City Council will pass a formal resolution adding the proposition to the ballot next week.

Lincolinites last voted on the controversial issue in 1946, when they defeated it 2 to 1.

The executive committee of the Lincoln Council of Churches has already announced its opposition to over-the-bar sales. It claims a popular vote will be "devisive" to the community.

"The Committee of 66," the Chamber group formed to secure sufficient names to get the matter before voters, will be disbanded.

MAO'S OLD COMRADES FALL

Tokyo (AP) — Red China hinted Monday at new and important changes at the top of its political ladder and cast vague doubts on the status of some of party chairman Mao Tze-tung's oldest comrades.

A listing of leaders indicated that such high figures as President Liu Shao-chi, aged Marshal Chu Teh and Chen Yun are no longer members of the Politburo's prestigious seven-man standing committee.

In addition, a dispatch by the official New China News Agency failed to mention Premier Chou En-lai's most important party function, that of one of the party's five deputy chairmen.

This may have no particular significance, however, since Chou still was included on the Politburo's standing committee in the latest list of government leaders.

On the other hand, it could mean there is now only one deputy chairman under Mao — Defense Minister Lin Biao, the emerging military strongman of Red China.

Listed Monday for the first time as a member of the Politburo standing committee, who welcomed Communist Party Chairman E. F. Hill of Australia to Peking was Kang Sheng. He recently emerged as one of Mao's top lieutenants in the cultural purge now sweeping China.

One of Mao's former associates in South China, Gov. Chen Yu of Kwangtung province, has been fired, arrival from Red China reported in Hong Kong. They said wall posters in the big southern city of Canton reported he had been dismissed for anti-party activities — indicating he was caught in the purge.

President Orders Cut In Federal Overtime

Washington (UPI) — President Johnson ordered a cutback in overtime for federal employees Monday as the administration took to Capitol Hill its case for an anti-inflationary suspension of tax incentives for business expansion.

The overtime order was disclosed by Budget Director Charles L. Schultze as part of Johnson's pledge to trim current estimated federal spending by $3 billion to take some heat off the boiling economy.

The President called for a slash in overtime to a level 25% below that of the 1966 fiscal year, which ended June 30, or back to the level budgeted in January for the current fiscal year, which ever is less.

Non-Viet Activities
The order will affect all civilian government workers not engaged in Viet Nam activities.

Schultze told the House Ways and Means Committee that "overtime pay rose sharply" in the first six months of this year. Some of it involved special Viet Nam programs or preparations for the start of Medicare and was essential, he said, but the rest required careful attention.

He declined to estimate savings from the overtime order. It would be in addition, he said, to $1.5 billion already sliced from federal spending in the form of delay or postponement of government construction contracts.

At the House hearing, Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler called for quick suspension for 16 months of the 7% tax credit businessmen can claim for spending on new plant and equipment.

Tax Hike Rejected

Fowler said the administration had considered but rejected the idea of a general tax increase in preference for a "selective" approach to the problem. Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, R-Mo., said the final solution was "entirely too late, entirely too little."

At a separate House subcommittee hearing on the economy, Chairman Gardner Ackley of the President's Council of Economic Advisers dismissed the possibility of wage-price controls.

They would, he said, keep "price tags stable only through bare shelves and low-quality products."

Engineered it
Fowler engineered the tax credit in 1962 as a stimulant to the then-lagging economy, and as recently as two weeks ago was known to have been advising the President against its temporary repeal.

He told the House committee it was "only with considerable reluctance and after careful study that we have reached the conclusion that suspension of the investment credit is an appropriate measure at this time."

Fowler cited the heavy and unpredictable costs of the Viet Nam war.

His testimony was seconded by Commerce Secretary John T. Connor, who endorsed the President's companion proposal to suspend for 16 months the formula under which businessmen can accelerate their tax write-offs for plant depreciation.

To Restrain Inflation
Both suspensions, coupled with the promised federal spending cutback, are designed to restrain inflation and ease the pressure for high interest rates in the money-short credit market.

Connor said "many, although by no means all," in the business community believe Johnson's tax program "merits strong support."

Dissenting from this view Monday were Charles M. Beeghly, chairman of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., and several delegates to an Urban America, Inc., convention in Washington.

U.S. Pilots Wreck 2 Missiles, Vehicle

Saigon (AP) — U.S. Air Force planes pounded a missile site in North Viet Nam for the sixth straight day Monday, destroying two missiles and a missile transporter, the U.S. command said Tuesday.

Pilots reported two secondary fires and two secondary explosions at the site 30 miles north of Dong Hoi. The site has been a source of major trouble for U.S. pilots bombing targets in the southern panhandle and other areas of the communist north.

Navy Skyhawk planes from the USS Franklin D. Roosevelt of the 7th Fleet hit at anti-aircraft and fuel storage areas north of Thanh Hoa. The raid on the storage area brought black smoke billowing to 8,000 feet.

No Loss Told
No planes were reported lost.

The spokesman said no significant ground action was reported overnight in South Viet Nam.

Monday, U.S. met attack bombers, carrying out the heaviest raids of the war, smashed military and communications targets in North Viet Nam all the way from the Hanoi-Haiphong complex to the southern panhandle.

Navy pilots reported shooting up three torpedo boats off Haiphong.

U.S. Air Force B52 jets from Guam smashed at North Vietnamese troop concentration areas in the demilitarized zone dividing North and South Viet Nam. American and South Vietnamese planes ripped away at Viet Cong targets in the south.

The U.S. command reported no significant ground fighting in the south.

Sampans Shelled

However, troops of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division caught three enemy sampans on the Saigon River southwest of Saigon Sunday and blasted them with artillery fire. One sank and the others ran aground.

A U.S. spokesman said nine Viet Cong guerrillas were killed. There were no American casualties, he said.

The big air attacks on the north took place Sunday. The U.S. command said Air Force, Navy and Marine planes flew 171 missions—perhaps 400 to 500 single plane sorties. The previous high was 156 missions Aug. 26. The command said pilots reported these results:

Damage or destruction to 107 cargo barges, 11 junks, 19 bridges, 38 supply buildings, 13 trucks and one surface-to-air missile (SAM) site.

363 Sorties
In the south, U.S. pilots flew 363 strike sorties Sunday—election day—while South Vietnamese airmen flew an additional 260.

Conrad's 4 Sons Turn Cartwheels At Liftoff; Mrs. Gordon Sheds Tears

Seabrook, Tex. (UPI) — Mrs. Richard Gordon cried and the four sons of Charles (Pete) Conrad turned somersaults Monday during the liftoff of Gemini 11.

Mrs. Gordon, the wife of the Gemini 11 pilot, described the launch and first-orbit rendezvous as "fine, just fine." But her 7-year-old son, Tommy, gave her away. "Mommy was crying," he said.

Mrs. Conrad, the wife of the command pilot, said she was more tense this time than when Conrad went up in Gemini 5 last year "because more things had to happen right."

"I don't think it was easier, maybe because I know more about what was going to happen," she said.

Somersaults
She said her sons were not as concerned. They turned somersaults as the Titan 2 ignited and the spacecraft lifted toward orbit.

They also disrupted the news conference. Tommy, 7, raced barefoot ahead of his mother to a microphone on a short stand and yelled, "Hey, look, there's even a small one for me."

Pete, 11, Andy, 8, and Chris, 5—took over the conference, lowering other microphones to their heights, answering questions asked of their mother and taking the windscreen from another mike.

"You just ruined the day for four sound men," an interviewer said at one point.

To The Trampoline
After Mrs. Conrad sent the boys to burn off their energy on a trampoline, the network television crews regrouped and started again.

But before they finished, Tommy, shirt tail flying, was jumping off the roof of the house. The four boys became known as roof racers during Gemini 5.

The six Gordon children went to school shortly after launch. Mrs. Jack Waite, the wife of the director of the Apollo moon program, took them. She started to go in her car, but it wouldn't start.

"Maybe the car is excited too," offered Larry, 8.

Chief's Offer
Police Chief Jess Young of Nassau Bay offered to take them. Ricky, 10, and Tommy, a mischievous freckle-faced youngster with three of his upper front teeth missing, wanted to ride in the police car.

"Let's go in Jess's car," they said in unison. But they finally went in the Gordons' station wagon.

The other Gordon children are Carleen, 5, James, 6, and Diane, 5. Diane, carrying a rag doll by the arm and her long blonde hair flowing over her bright sunflower-yellow dress, came to meet Mrs. Waite, who watched the launch at the Gordon home.

Mother, Priest
Gordon's mother, Mrs. Angela Frances Gordon, and the Rev. Patrick O'Brien of St. Christopher's Catholic Church in Houston also were there.

LANE HOTEL . . . burns as firemen fight it and spectators watch.

14 Die In Alaska Hotel Fire

Anchorage, Alaska (UPI) — Fourteen persons died early Monday when fire destroyed a workingman's hotel here. City officials said it was Anchorage's worst loss of life in a single incident, including the Good Friday earthquake of 1964. Alaska's earthquake death toll was 115, but only 6 in Anchorage.

The 34-room, two-story hotel, the Lane, had 25 guests listed in the registration book but Fire Chief Vic Bernasconi said that figure was not positive because guests came and went without checking in and out.

Only three bodies were intact enough to identify by physical features. The others were charred beyond recognition, the chief said.

One of the victims was believed to be Albert Kaloe, chief of the oil-rich Tyonek Indians.

He was known to have checked into the hotel, which was popular with Indians who came to town from the Tyonek village.

Four Women

Four of the victims were believed to be women.

Two men were hospitalized with burns. They were identified as John Sullivan, a long-time resident of the hotel, and Wenas Junior Williams, an Indian.

Bernasconi said the loss was estimated at about $100,000, but was only partly covered by insurance.

He said the fire department had recommended against permitting the hotel to be remodeled recently but was overruled by the Anchorage city council.

Odds Against Mansfield In Debate Move

Washington (AP) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana — with the odds against him—moved Monday to end the Senate's shadow filibuster and force a vote on civil rights.

Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he has no doubt that Mansfield's move will fail when it comes to a vote late Wednesday.

It would take two-thirds of the senators voting to halt debate on a motion by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., to put before the Senate the broad civil rights bill passed by the House Aug. 9.

Mansfield indicated that if the bill's supporters can get majority backing for their debate-ending move, he may file a second petition for cloture.

If the Wednesday vote is short of a majority—which itself would be far short of the two-thirds needed — the bill probably will be shelved at once.

Tough Man Seen As Next Premier

Johannesburg, South Africa (AP) — Justice Minister Balthazar Vorster, a tough right-wing extremist, emerged Monday as the favorite to become new prime minister of South Africa.

Transport Minister Ben Schoeman, a veteran of the ruling Nationalist Party, appeared the only candidate likely to challenge him.

The parliamentary caucus of the party meets in Cape Town, the legislative capital, Tuesday to choose a successor to Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd, who was stabbed to death by an assassin Sept. 6.

Vorster, 50, has created an image as a ruthless man dedicated to eliminating threats to South Africa from internal opponents of the white government. As the country's top policeman, he holds the portfolios of justice, police and prisons. He has banned about 500 left-wing and liberal critics.

Why Are You A Poor Talker?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports a simple technique of everyday conversation which can pay you real dividends in social and business advancement and works like magic to give you poise, self-confidence and greater popularity. According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by what they say and how they say it. Whether in business, at social functions, or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances there are ways to make a good impression every time you talk.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in everyday conversation, the publishers have printed full details of their interesting self-training method in a new book, "Adventures in Conversation," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. # Peace Corpsman Innocent In Murder

Mwanza, Tanzania (UPI) — Two trial assessors, the Tanzanian equivalent of a jury, Monday found American Peace Corps teacher Bill H. Kinsey innocent of murdering his American wife. They ruled her death was a "tragic accident."

The final verdict, expected before the end of this week, now rests with British Judge Harold Platt.

Kinsey, 24, of Washington, N. C., relaxed and smiled as the assessors, one of them an American, gave their decision.

He faced death by hanging if convicted of killing his pretty wife, Beverly, 23, of Riverside, Conn., a fellow Peace Corps teacher.

The assessors were U. S. aid official Gale A. Bagley of Elseberry, Mo., fulfilling the Tanzanian requirement that one of the pair must be of the defendant's tribe, and a Tanzanian economist Fred Mugobi.

Unlike American juries, the assessors are required to give the court the reasoning behind their verdict.

Both said they agreed with Kinsey's defense attorney Byron Georgiadis that Beverly's death was a "tragic accident."

The prosecution alleged Kinsey bludgeoned her to death with an iron bar and a rock March 27. Kinsey maintained Beverly fell from a 20-foot boulder during a picnic.

Bagley said prosecution witnesses who told of seeing Kinsey "fighting" with his wife must have misinterpreted what they saw.

Alabama's School Law Challenged

Montgomery, Ala. (AP) — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People asked a federal judge Monday for a temporary injunction to bar enforcement of the school antiquelination law of Gov. George Wallace of Alabama.

The suit also wants a three-judge federal panel to rule on constitutionality of the law.

The suit comes only three days after Wallace threatened to use state police power to back up the law he pushed through the legislature.

At least two Alabama school systems—Tuscaloosa and Lauderdale counties — have integrated their facilities. Neither is under a federal court order.

The antiquelination law declares null and void the new desegregation outline which requires desegregation of faculty as well as students. It does not affect those systems under federal court order to desegregate.

The law also nullifies all agreements by Alabama school boards to comply with the controversial guidelines. And it forbids the boards to enter into any new agreements.

Some Fields Of Sorghum Nearly Ripe

By The Associated Press
Nearly 20% of Nebraska's record shattering corn crop is now mature and safe from frost, government observers reported Monday.
Another 55% of the corn is in the dent stage, with development of the crop generally seven to 10 days ahead of normal, according to the weekly crop report of the State - Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.
A U.S. Department of Agriculture estimate last week, based on Sept. 1 conditions, foresaw an unprecedented 70-bushel-per acre average yield of corn in the state this year.
Only an early freeze or some other weather disaster apparently would prevent realization of the bumper yields.
Grain sorghum also staged a great August recovery and some sorghum fields are now nearly ripe, the crop report said. However, combining in most areas is still some time away, particularly in those areas where late summer rainfall caused plants to develop new shoots.

Wheat Seeding Progresses
While row crops continue good progress towards maturity, the seeding of winter wheat moves ahead.
Seeding progress last week has resulted in slightly more than one-half of wheat acreage now being seeded in the Panhandle. Statewide, about 20% of the wheat has been planted, with good progress also in the seeding of rye and legumes.
In general, seedbeds are well prepared and moisture supplies are adequate, but grasshoppers may become a problem around the borders of fields in the west, the weekly review said.
Other observations:
Soybeans in the east and southeast part of the state are turning yellow and beginning to shed leaves.
Harvest of the third cutting of alfalfa is nearing completion and about one-fifth of the fourth crop has been cut.
Dry bean harvest is moving along quite well in the west.
Special sales of feeder cattle are under way in most areas with movement of the cattle regarded as somewhat slower than usual.
Pasture and range grasses are generally providing adequate feed, but unless drying weather prevails to cure the grasses, the feed remaining for winter grazing may be of low quality.

Swirl Of Wind Through Plane Said Likely Cause Of Crash

Chicago (UPI) — The crash of a Braniff Airline BAC-111 jet on Aug. 6 near Falls City, Neb., may have been caused by a swirl of wind which swept through the craft and broke it up in flight, Rep. Roman Pucinski, D-Ill., said.
Pucinski, a World War II pilot and member of the House Aviation Committee, said he listened to recordings of tapes recovered from the pilot's compartment.
"While it is highly speculative and dangerous to draw conclusions at this point in the investigation, it is possible that the plane might have broken up and that the pilot and co-pilot might have been knocked out before the crash," Pucinski said.
The plane crashed en route from Kansas City to Omaha while descending from 20,000 feet to land. Civil Aeronautics Board investigators said the plane apparently encountered a line squall, the most violent type of thunderstorm. All 42 persons aboard were killed.
Pucinski said the tape indicated the plane went through "a terribly violent storm and that the pilot and co-pilot were attempting to find openings to get out of it."
Pucinski, who pressed for the regulation which requires all airliners be equipped with voice recorders, said there are several sounds on the tape which will take another month to decipher.
Crash probes found that the pilot, Capt. Donald G. Pauly of Minneapolis, was attempting to pull out of a near vertical dive when the plane hit.
It was the first of the British built BAC-111s to crash in this country and the first of the type to crash anywhere while on a regularly scheduled flight.

Ak Livestock Entries Set New Record

Lancaster and Cumming counties have tied with 172 entries to lead youthful livestock exhibitors from seven states who will be exhibiting at the 39th Ak-Sar-Ben Livestock Show which opens Sept. 23.
This year's show will have an all-time high of 1,918 4-H and FFA exhibitors representing seven states and showing 3,373 head of livestock.
Fred W. Gilmore, chairman of the Ak-Sar-Ben Livestock Show Committee, notes these records have been achieved despite a change in ruling that places a minimum weight on market animals and the elimination of pens-of-five steers and heifers plus a limit of four swine or lamb entries per exhibitor.
The highest percentage of increase for exhibits over 1965 is shown in the purebred heifer division where a 29.8% increase in entries will be shown.
"I can recall five years ago we only had 89 entries in this division, this year we have increased to where we have 257 purebred heifers in the show," said Arden Aegerter, director of Ak-Sar-Ben events.

Osceola, Arcadia Students Honored

A special interest in animal science helped two University of Nebraska juniors each win a $100 William J. and Hazel J. Loeffel scholarship.

NU Judging Team 1st In Swine Meet

Austin, Minn. — The University of Nebraska took first place in an intercollegiate swine judging contest held here Monday in connection with the National Barrow Show.
The NU team, coached by Prof. R. B. Warren, gathered 3,087 points for top place in a field of 10 university teams. Other teams in the top five were Iowa State University, 3,002 points; University of Illinois, 2,984 points; South Dakota State, 2,979; and the University of Georgia, 2,957.
Nebraska student judges took five of top 10 placings in a field of 70 individual judges. Jules Ulrich of Tobias was champion with 630; followed by Brian Riddell of Oakland, second; and Lauren Boeckenhauer, Wayne, with 619 and 617 points, respectively. In fifth place was Gene Wehrbein of Louisville with 615, and in 10th place was Ron Puls of Louisville with 606. Alternates were Clayton Miller of Elmwood and Tom Drudik of Nelson.
The University of Nebraska placed fourth in the same contest at Austin a year ago.

Ft. Robinson Chief Recruiter Post Goes To Omahan Allen

Alliance (AP) — Tom Allen, a roving reporter for the Omaha World-Herald, has been named chief recruiter for Fort Robinson Association Inc., succeeding Dr. William Hall, former head of the University of Nebraska School of Journalism.
Dr. Hall has accepted the post of director of the Ohio State University School of Journalism.
As chief recruiter, Allen will direct a statewide membership campaign to help the organization promote Fort Robinson State Park as a tourist and recreation center. The Rev. Robert O'Neill of Harrison, president of the organization, named Mrs. Ben Carlson and Lloyd Pipher of Crawford and the Rev. John Dorr of Chadron to assist Allen in the drive to sell $2 individual memberships and $5 family memberships.
At a directors' meeting Father O'Neill commended the United States Department of Agriculture for releasing about two acres of shady river bottom land to increase the size of the park's camping area, and for repairing the roof and pointing up the brick walls of the veterinary hospital building.
Park Supt. John Kurtz said this area permits one-third more campers to stay overnight and many stay longer because of daytime comforts. But he said many tourists and at least one third of the hunters seeking reservations for the coming antelope, deer and turkey seasons have had to be turned away because of lack of accommodations.

In The Face Of Challenge

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The American people should feel chagrined as they contemplate the results of elections in Viet Nam. If signs seen in early returns there hold up, the final count will show 80 per cent of the registered voters having gone to the polls to mark their ballots. This is contrasted with a figure that hovers around 50 per cent in off-year elections in this country and only around 65 per cent in presidential years.

In Viet Nam we have a people who have known no peace for the last 50 years, a whole generation of citizens who have been born and reared in an atmosphere of plunder and oppression. In this current election, it is the first experience of its kind for many of the South Vietnamese people. It was an election conducted under the most difficult of circumstances, with many people actually killed in terrorist tactics applied by the Viet Cong in an effort to thwart the elective process. Additionally, there is a serious question even as to how meaningful the election will be.

The election was but the first step in a long process. It was to elect an assembly that will draw up a constitution, to be followed at a still later date by the election of officials. Thus, there is a long way to go before the Vietnamese people have the democratic government they might hope for.

Yet, in the face of all of this, some 75% of the eligible voters went to the polls. Here in this country there is every encouragement for the voter but up to half of them frequently turn down the opportunity to elect their own representatives and to decide the issues of the day.

Perhaps the situation is simply typical of human nature. That in life with which we have become comfortable tends to become meaningless to us while that which we have not becomes the envy of all our effort. Being guaranteed the right to vote and having the process made so easy for us, we fail to take advantage of things. In Viet Nam, elections are such a rarity that they catch the imagination of the people. Even in the face of threats upon their life, they turn out to vote. The denial of this freedom to them through the years has whet their appetite for a democratic elective system. They know what such a system means because they have lived so long without it.

They know that a free elective system is a fundamental and vital part of all freedom. Without a representative form of government, people are made subject to the government and the foundations of a dictatorship are thereby established. No society could exist without some kind of government, by whatever name it might be called. Even the earliest times of mankind are marked by an order to the society in which these men and women lived. It was sometimes a crude kind of order but there were explicit things to do and patterns to follow. This is why we sometimes go overboard in our criticism of government. In doing so, we seem to have some idea that things would be fine if only we could eliminate the government. The fact is that things under such conditions would be deplorable.

Without an effective government, there would be no control over society. The absence of government would be anarchy and any country that has ever reached this stage has found itself in the depths of despair. To live together, mankind must be organized for the common good of all concerned and government is the advanced means of doing this.

Thus, we ought to keep in mind that in our political differences we are not talking about the presence or absence of government. We are going to have government and the only question is what kind it will be. It can run the range from a purely caretaker organization devoted mainly to national defense to an activist organization deeply concerned with common problems of society.

Due to the advanced stage of the world today, there is even little question that the government is going to be an active one, leaving the distinctions to be drawn still more difficult to define.

This is noticed in the shrinking degree of differences that exist between our two major political parties of today. Either party that gets too far away from the political middleground finds itself in trouble. This, of course, only increases the responsibility of the electorate because it requires intelligent analysis and sound decisions.

The American people should give more thought to such matters as these and, thereby, come to a greater appreciation of their right to vote. It is a right just like any other that could be lost if subjected to too much disuse. It is a guarantee that is good only within the confines of our own shores so we are the only ones who can make sure of its permanency.

TV Crime Show Quiz Petered Out

WASHINGTON — The Metromedia TV chain was not the only one which Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., protected from Senate investigation regarding televised violence and its effect on the youth of America. Another network, the National Broadcasting Company, also got immunity.

Sen. Dodd's staff on the Juvenile Delinquency committee spent many hours screening the networks, prepared all sorts of material ready for the senator to investigate. But when they were all ready to go, investigation of the two most violent TV groups just faded away. Something mysterious happened. Suddenly Sen. Dodd, chairman of the committee, lost interest.

Second only to schools and the church, ranks television in molding the youth of America. And five years ago this column vigorously applauded Sen. Dodd's start in probing TV sex and violence. At that time—the autumn of 1961—Dodd's Juvenile Delinquency staff had prepared a damaging case. Chief Counsel Paul L. Laskin and Staff Director Carl L. Perlin summarized their progress in a confidential memo to Dodd dated Oct. 25, 1961.

"In our hearings thus far," they reported, "We have established that:

"Programs of the crime-detective, action-adventure, western type increased from 15 per cent of total prime program time (7-11 p.m.) to over 50 percent since 1955. "The degree and intensity of the crime and violence within these programs has increased drastically.

"Over 20 million children watch television during these hours.

"The total time spent before the television set by children ranges from 20-25 hours a week.

"As many as five to eight million children under 17 watch such shows as 'The Untouchables,' 'Outlaws,' and so on every night of the week.

The memo also pointed out that "experts from several disciplines have testified as to the cumulative effect of so much violence. Their feelings can be summarized by quoting Dr. Wilbur Schramm who testified, 'in view of our findings, the amount of violence on television is just too dangerous to go on.'"

The staff's biggest problem, stated Laskin and Perlin, was to pin down who was responsible for TV violence.

"While everyone tended to blame everyone else for TV crime and violence," they reported to Dodd, "our record now shows that the writers are not directly responsible. They receive their orders in the form of 'program presentations' which implicitly or explicitly call for violence. . . .

Patchwork Prairie Country

We have just come inside after having been serenaded by a pack of coyotes in the section east that adjoins our land. Just how many of the wild creatures joined in the howling is difficult to say but it seemed there were many young pups. Every so often we would hear the loud, deeper voiced wail of an adult, no doubt the leader of the pack. The sharp barking continued for five minutes or more and the goose bumps on my arms grew bigger with every yap, yet I would not come into the house.

A coyote's howl always sends cold shivers down my back but I love the wild call. I respect this intelligent animal that has been roaming the world since the age of the dinosaurs. Only because of its wits and adaptability has it been able to survive. I often wonder if man could be as cunning and survive as well by his wits and wisdom.

The picture of autumn is being painted with a flourish as the days of September bring shorter days and cooler nights. The milo is turning a deep russet-red while the sumac is wearing tinges of scarlet about the fringes of its thicket. Ears of corn hang heavy upon the stalks with husks drying in the sun, turning day by day from bright yellow-green to tan. Here and there the cottonwood trees are sporting a yellow-gold leaf, not quite ready to yield to the new season of maturity and decay.

Today our farm was a busy place. A group of men helped The Farmer put up a new steel grain bin. The foundation was completed last week. Early this morning work started on the steel sections. When the sun set this evening, the new bin towered beside the crib, complete with doors and frames. Barring unforeseen difficulties, the new storage space will soon be filled with milo.

I read an observation about the average American saying he is a man who works hard all winter to fill his home with comforts and conveniences, and then spends his summers in a trailer, or tourist cabin, or fishing boat, or mountain shack with few comforts and conveniences.

It would seem to me it is all in the name. Going for water with a bucket at a mountain stream is called a vacation. At home, if the city water supply should fail, it would be a great hardship. Lighting a lantern to hang by the camper while the supper chores are being finished is also called a vacation. Having to light a lantern should the local power fail is a downright catastrophe, something the power companies should never allow to happen. Sitting on a log to eat breakfast is a real experience . . . something the family has traveled miles to do . . . but at home should the local repairman be a bit slow in mending a broken chair, the experience of sitting on a box would be downright degrading. The repairman would hear about it in short order.

It does seem strange, doesn't it? . . . Man is a queer, contrary fellow. He knows what he wants and strives to get it. When he gets it all, he dashes away for miles and miles to get away from it all. The one thing that never loses its appeal is the very simplicity of nature itself . . . the slow, certain orderliness of the universe. Time goes on, more and more gadgets are produced for our luxurious living, yet one is never content. But it takes only a day of peace or quiet in the north woods to bring contentment.

The bright lights flashing on and off on a nightclub marquee hold a certain amount of fascination for a while but soon the false glimmer of true happiness is gone. The glimmer of a moon over a lake never seems to lose its appeal. One does not need loud music, a crowd of milk-clad ladies and elegant men to find enjoyment in an evening's entertainment. It must be so, else why would man spend thousands of dollars each year finding a mountain retreat or sheltered haven where few men pass?

Just The Facts

Lincoln, Neb.

The "Meet The Candidate" program on local TV during this campaign is certainly a true test of one's knowledge, ability and convictions. The voter is being given a chance to decide whether he wants an honest man, one who gives straight, direct and informative answers, or a man who clouds the facts in a veil of accusations and half-truths.

Clair Callan answered all questions put to him without pomp or fanfare; he answered not only his own critics' charges but he also explained the true facts behind the Job Corps, the housing bill and the four-year farm bill. The voters are tired of Mr. Callan's opponent always making unprovable, unfounded charges that ring of shallow thought and Goldwater negativism. The voters of our district are intelligent people! They want the type of representation they have been getting from Mr. Callan. They expect explanation and fact, not accusation and vagueness.

The Republican candidate finds it easy to cry "rubber stamp" and quote percentages, but he doesn't feel it is necessary to tell the voters where he acquired his figures. If he is going to be an automatic "no" to all administration-backed proposals, then he had better be letting the people of our district know that.

Mr. Callan weighs each issue for its own merits; he explained this on TV and his voting record is testimony to this fact. Regardless of party, a voter deserves to be treated as though he can understand the issues when they are intelligently presented to him. Clair Callan treats the voters to the facts so they, too, can understand decisions he must make.

In a world so desperately in need of change, reform and progress, the only really conservatively minded people, or true Republicans, which there can be those who now already have all the finer things in life for themselves which money can buy and who care little if anyone else has anything. There are those who think they are Republicans because that is what their fathers or grandfathers thought they were.

It is this traditional political alignment which sends men to Washington, not to provide honest representation but simply to sit in those chairs of high responsibility and honor. They vote for bills providing tax loopholes, depletion, write-offs and giveaways because their already over-endowed cohorts ask them to. And they just as energetically vote against anything which might improve the lot of the average citizen.

Any traditional party follower who doubt this should consider the voting record of "our own man from Minden." Mr. Curtis is presently engaged in telling everyone who has a vote to cast how concerned he is about them. After years of Republican, Farm Bureau and CED effort to lower farm income, bankrupt farmers and clear the way for corporate take-over of agriculture by dumping government support programs, Mr. Curtis now professes to be a friend of the farmer.

Those susceptible to this type of sucker bait should ask Mr. Curtis where he was in the late 1950s when Republican Ezra Taft Benson had soybean prices down to $1.78 a bushel and corn prices down to less than 90 cents.

The Transition

Omaha, Neb.

Who is trying to cover up what in our Statehouse computer mess? Individuals facing up to unpleasant realities are unlikely to panic. We evidently have a regrettable chaotic condition in the Statehouse that gives off a most disagreeable effluvia. What will a compost spreader with another round of stalling, excuses and alibis resolve?

Why not admit that the state was remiss in taking a good investigative look into the horse's mouth? We bought a package that glittered with the hope that it would solve many fiscal management problems. Now, who is fighting for the low paid conscientious state employees who suffer hardships due to repeated rounds of bums malarkey?

Did the accounting firm bite off something too big for them? If so, why not kick them out? LB173 merely glorified accountants who are only checkers, not business consultants or experts. The crash program for a fast transition resulted in a paper blizzard. Lack of corporate and government experience in systems with a dictatorial attitude promoted ill will among agencies and personnel. Since when do appointees tell electives to do it, or else?

The transition ought to have been smooth and should have been with a few departments at a time. It is fruitless to expect improvement until we unhitch some shetland ponies from the gang plow and put on horses with weight and know-how to pull the load to get the system working without ruffling feathers all over the place. Personnel with talent and experience could have been hired. Why wasn't it done? What does the proposal of July 23, 1963, say about training data processing personnel? Then, why all this alleged mess in data processing management now? The system could be serviceable and made to work, but not with the present light-weights.

Another Space Success

The latest space effort by the United States had hardly begun before it was a success. Just one hour and 20 minutes after Gemini 11 astronauts Charles Conrad Jr. and Richard F. Gordon Jr. were launched from Cape Kennedy, they had docked with their Agena satellite target.

It was an achievement of record in all regards, the first such successful operation in the now long history of man in space. Where it puts us in the so-called space race with Russia will be debated by the scientific community but there is no question that the mission is already a significant one, regardless of its final two days.

Still to be completed are two days of orbiting and an extended walk in space, neither of which is expected to present any difficulties. The Agena docking is significant in that it represents an essential step in our efforts to land an astronaut on the moon. For this adventure it is essential we be able to link up with a fixed space target in the trip to and from the moon.

While the space program has advanced considerably in the past decade, it represents a national effort that still captures the enthusiasm of citizens in general. We have not gone so far in space that it has become a routine thing when human beings are launched by rocket from Cape Kennedy.

And this space effort, coming as it does in the midst of international tension and domestic concern, demonstrates the versatility of our nation. We cannot and have not been forced to achieve any of our national goals to date at the total sacrifice of any other effort. While such a position may have its critics, it is a demonstration of strong national purpose and unparalleled capacity.

The Johnson Remedies

The best news about President Johnson's latest war — that one on inflation — is that thus far the American people are buying his remedy.

And in time of full employment and prosperous business public confidence is the large ingredient to a stable economy.

The Federal Reserve's earlier effort to bring down the game by raising bank interest rates was a failure. It created more imbalances than it corrected, and shifted the money supply in new directions. It would have worked a little better if America was a true capitalist economy. But America is more subject to industry and employment and to business. Interest rates may govern a bank, but they are not foremost in the concerns of the other activities. Indeed, while trying to bring the economy into balance, interest rate increases more often spur inflation. Business and industry simply add the higher interest tariffs to price and there goes the price structure.

Confidence currently is the priceless ingredient to our economy. While President Johnson's remedies may be short of what is needed in some areas they have stimulated public confidence and lack of that was our principal threat.

It may take more in the end, even such unmentionable things as wage and price controls, for what is mainly lacking is the frank facing up to the fact that we are on a war economy and no matter how we wish to call it our difficulty in Viet Nam amounts to war — not a major war, but certainly a war.

When more than half the national budget is going for an active defense of our national interest through military spending we are bound to have the questions of "guns and butter." And that is, basically, what is upsetting us.

Margaret Sanger And People

In her own generation, which is now the aging generation, Margaret Sanger was well known. She was a reformer, favoring birth control.

Her early years came at a time when America was breaking with its past and when it was becoming aware of injustice and degradation. She really belonged to the generation of Carrie Nation, the Kansas prohibitionist, of Upton Sinclair and Ida Tarbell, writers against long standing industrial abuses, and some of the later day suffragettes, and the warriors against child labor.

It was a good time for reformers. There were many things needing reform and the nation was not ready to make the changes. This gave a sense of establishment to the reformers. It was still the time when government was not supposed to address itself to average social problems. Challenging abuses was a job for the individual or the small organized group.

Things changed greatly during the great depression when the government finally entered the fray and many of the reforms were achieved by law. Margaret Sanger survived the change and finally went to her death after many years of crusading fairly well known. But not in the sense she was known during her younger years. Crusaders, many of them women, in her younger years were looked on as rather nonfeminine, idealistic but rather impractical.

Her cause was the slowest to get moving. It involved birth control and as recently as 50 years ago this was generally felt to be invading a sphere where humans had no business. It is a dangerous field because it gives humans the power of choice, but no guarantee of wisdom of choice. But changing times gave new logic to her position and in the end her cause is apt to be the most victorious of all, though the most questionable.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Douglas Faces New Generation

MOLINE, Ill. — Like a benign sea lion, he paddles back and forth in the motel pool for 15 minutes in the early morning light. This is Sen. Paul H. Douglas keeping fit for another strenuous day that frequently goes far into the night in his campaign for re-election to a fourth term.

It is a day filled with a press conference, street-corner speeches, a luncheon address, shaking several hundred hands at two plant gates, then, just before the free chili supper and the big rally in the Belgian-American hall, another swim. At 74, Douglas paces himself through the incredible grind of a statewide campaign in the third largest state in the union.

Second perhaps only to the governorship race in California, the contest for the Senate catches up the elements of turmoil in a time of troubles. Douglas has all his life been the apostle of progress through social reform, civil rights, equal justice for all elements in the economy, the New Deal, the Fair Deal. He has been a member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People since 1920.

But today, as he well knows, he may be caught in the middle between the shouted demands of black power and white power. How loud will be the echo of the insensate rage of Cicero and the other white suburbs in the Chicago area in the campaign no one can judge. Nor can anyone say with certainty, despite the report that around mid-October most of the civil rights leaders will declare for Douglas, how the Negro intends to vote.

It is not alone in the black power-white power confrontation that Douglas at times feels he is caught between two worlds, two generations. In his nearly 18 years in the Senate he has sponsored and helped to push toward passage much of the advanced legislation in social security, medical care, aid to education, minimum wages. But in the swelling prosperity of recent years, the younger generation takes this for granted and the "what've you done for me lately?" is prevalent.

Prosperity is unmistakable. As Douglas handshakes outside the gate of the Farm-all works of International Harvester, one of his United Auto Workers backers apologizes because the crowd out of the shift ending at 3:30 isn't bigger. The reason, he explains, is overtime, keeping a sizable part of the shift on for extra hours at overtime pay.

This prosperity is the central theme of Douglas' campaign. In every speech he puts it in the bluntest terms: Haven't you a better car than you had in 1960, a better television set, a new coat of paint on your house, more food in the market basket? Sure, prices have gone up 8 per cent since that time, but wages have gone up 25 per cent. And if you look at nothing but the price increase, it's like looking at the hole in the doughnut.

Shriver Job Corps Tour Schedule Set

R. Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, will tour the Lincoln Job Corps Center Wednesday.

Shriver will address center staff members, city and state officials and community leaders at the Job Corps Center auditorium at 9:30 a.m.

Prior to this address, he will hold a news conference at 8:45 a.m.

Shriver will arrive in Nebraska Tuesday at 8:28 p.m. for a meeting of city and community representatives in Omaha. After the Omaha meeting, he will come to Lincoln and stay overnight at the Governor's Mansion.

Wednesday's schedule includes breakfast at the mansion, a 7:45 a.m. briefing at the Job Corps center by Director J. O. Grantham and a tour of the facility.

Shriver will be shown a vocational shop, recreational facilities and a dormitory.

Following his public address, he will return to Omaha for a tour of the Omaha Job Corps Center for women.

Shriver will address Omaha center staff members and enrollees and the press at 12:15 p.m. at the Paxton Hotel. He will leave Nebraska at 1:30 p.m.

Shriver's visit to Lincoln precedes by six days the scheduled arrival of the first Job Corps enrollees. However, six Corpsmen who are giving the Lincoln facility a test run will be at the center while he is there.

Select Job Corpsmen Here For Dry Test Run

Six Job Corpsmen who have received training at other centers throughout the nation will give the Lincoln Job Corps Center facilities a dry test run beginning Tuesday.

The Corpsmen are scheduled to stay at the Lincoln center for about 10 days. The first batch of Lincoln enrollees, perhaps as many as 70, is slated to arrive on Sept. 20.

The six Corpsmen are among 44 outstanding Corpsmen from centers throughout the nation who are participating in an on-the-job training project in federal offices in Washington, D. C.

Project 44 Corpsmen work six hours a day and spend another two hours daily in classroom work as part of two to six months of training and education in federal offices.

In order to qualify for the project, Corpsmen must have spent at least three months at one of the Job Corps centers and compiled an outstanding record.

After they complete their Project 44 activities, they may return to their training center, enroll in school, enter military service or seek employment.

The six Corpsmen will meet with newsmen at the Lincoln center at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Plumber Files Against City Suspension Of Certificate

A Lincoln plumber filed a petition in error in Lancaster District Court Monday against Mayor Dean Petersen and the City of Lincoln in connection with suspension of his certificate of registration as a master plumber.

Neal Holmes alleges that the City on June 2 found, without public hearing, that he was in violation of the plumbing code of the City of Lincoln and requested the mayor to suspend or revoke his certificate.

Holmes alleges that the alleged violations for which his certificate is being suspended occurred prior to the time that the ordinance he allegedly violated was in effect.

The petition states that on July 16 the certificate was suspended and on July 26 Holmes appeared to show cause why the order of suspension should not be effective and Mayor Petersen reduced the effective period of suspension from 90 to 30 days effective Sept. 1.

He asks the court to rescind the order on grounds that the City erred in its findings which were "contrary to evidence" and defendants acted "arbitrarily and capriciously and in complete disregard of evidence and of law."

Ginzburg Pays Portion Of Fine

Philadelphia (UPI) — Publisher Ralph Ginzburg of New York paid $13,790 Monday towards the $42,000 he and his three firms were fined for sending obscene literature through the mail.

In addition to the fines, imposed by Judge Ralph C. Body of U.S. District Court here, Ginzburg was sentenced to five years in prison. His petition for a reduction of sentence was pending in Third U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Ginzburg is free on $10,000 bail.

Body fined Ginzburg $28,000. Documentary Books was fined $4,500, Eros Magazine $5,000 and Liaison News Letter $4,500.

POISONED BY CHLORINE

Emergency facilities are jammed at a hospital in Torrance, Calif., Monday, as teams of doctors and nurses treat some of the 85 or more victims of a poisonous chlorine gas leak. Fourteen persons were hospitalized. The gas was released when a welder cut the wrong pipeline. Winds carried the fumes to a nearby parking lot where 700 construction workers were reporting to work. Fifty of them collapsed.

Public Schools Enrollment 300 Under Official Estimate

Enrollment for the first day in the Lincoln Public Schools Monday totaled 28,267, nearly 300 students under the official prediction of 28,560.

On opening day 16,760 elementary students, including both morning and afternoon sessions of kindergarten and double sessions for first and second graders at crowded Ruth Pyrite School, attended classes.

Denney Says For Favoring Alaska Over Agriculture

Republican First District congressional candidate Robert V. Denney of Fairbury said Monday his Democratic opponent, Rep. Clair Callan, is putting "Alaska ahead of agriculture."

Denney said Callan "voted federal funds to support Alaska's centennial celebration," but says "he won't fight a federal cutback in funds for agricultural research."

Denney referred to new conference remarks in which Callan indicated he would support holding down project expenditures "to stay within the budget."

"Callan said that if agricultural research was the only program the President wanted cut back, he'd oppose it," Denney said. "Yet, his belated interest in the taxpayer's dollar was non-existent when he supported program after program, involving hundreds of millions of tax dollars, in government give-aways."

Loup To Ask For Federal Disaster Aid

A spokesman for the State Civil Defense unit said Monday the Loup River Public Power District is planning to apply for federal disaster funds.

Harold Traver, a Civil Defense auditor, said the power district will meet in Columbus next Monday with Kent Hutton of the Office of Emergency Planning to draw up the application.

He said the money would be used to rebuild sections of the agency's facilities which were damaged by the Aug. 12-13 Loup River flood.

Traver said no estimate was available at this time on the request. He said an inspection report is expected before the meeting.

If granted, the money would be in addition to the $500,000 already awarded Nebraska by President Johnson from the natural disaster relief funds.

Search For Resources Chief Starts

The Nebraska Resources Foundation and the Nebraska Resources Committee held a special meeting in Lincoln Monday to consider candidates for a Nebraska resources division director to replace David Osterhout.

Osterhout has been named acting president of Doane College at Crete and will become the college's permanent business manager after the first of the year.

The new director actually will be appointed by the next governor — either Republican Norbert Tiemann or Democrat Philip Sorenson.

Money Meeting Set

Ottawa (AP) — The annual meeting of the Commonwealth finance ministers will be held Sept. 21-22 in Montreal. Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp announced. He said the 23 ministers will take up matters relating to the Washington meeting Sept. 26-30 of the governors of the International Monetary Fund and of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Catalog Evokes Fond Memories

By ROBERT PETERSON

The other day I was visiting a friend and noticed a mail order catalog on the coffee table. Just seeing it evoked powerful nostalgia, for it had been at least a quarter of a century since I'd held one of these bulky merchandising compendiums in my hands.

I had assumed that these wonderfully detailed catalogs had declined in popularity, or had been replaced by smaller more compact versions. But the tomes issued by such giants as Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward are still two or three inches thick and are said to reach two or three times as many people as they did half a century ago.

City dwellers with access to department stores seldom knew the long age delights of browsing through a big mail order catalog. But rural and smalltown folks far removed from big city shopping derived as much entertainment and education from these bulky wish books as their counterparts derive from television.

Small boys spent hours in the sports section of the catalog, studying the virtues of various bicycles. They perused descriptions of rifles and shotguns and became authorities on the relative merits of a .12 gauge Browning versus a .410 gauge Remington. Dreams of sporting glory were kindled as they studied the panorama of sporting equipment for hunting, fishing, trapping, football, basketball, and even that new game called golf.

As youngsters grew into their teens they became clothes-conscious. Parents didn't always agree with their sartorial choices, but children could let their imaginations soar as they chose suits and dresses they imagined would turn them into swashbuckling young bucks or smart and sassy flappers.

Grownups had a more practical use for the catalog and used it to order clothing, machinery, and household articles which could not be found in small-town stores. But the book was also a keen stimulus to adult imaginations, for it brought the world and its newest innovations to their very hearthside.

Because mail order catalogs accurately reflect the styles and furnishings popular through the years, they are an important reference tool for manufacturers, tailors, film studios, and producers of theatrical productions.

It's good to know the mail order catalog still exists. This wonderful wish book obviously meets a need, and holds a special niche of favor in the memories of many folks past 40 who grew up in isolated communities.

LBJ Vetoes 'Inflationary' Insurance Bill

Washington (AP)—President Johnson vetoed Monday a bill to increase insurance coverage for federal employees at a cost of $90 million annually. He described it as inflationary.

"At a time when we are making every effort to reduce low-priority federal spending in other areas, this bill cannot be justified," Johnson said in a statement he read to newsmen at an impromptu news conference.

"At a time when we are urging business and labor to exercise restraint, this bill would set a double standard for executive branch employees and members of Congress."

Can't Be Backed

"At a time when the Congress—at the request of employee unions — has already added more than $300 million more than I requested to this year's cost of civilian pay, this bill cannot be supported."

On other matters, Johnson:

—Said he was glad to see the election held in South Viet Nam and was pleased with the big vote.

—Said reaction had been good to his recent anti-inflation proposals to Congress, including suspension of the 7% investment tax credit and the accelerated depreciation allowance, as well as a hold-down in government spending.

Asked whether he felt his package of proposals would be approved by Congress, Johnson replied: "Yes, I think it will pass."

Rights Bill Problems

—Said he hopes the present session of Congress will pass his civil rights bill but said "we have some problems in the Senate which appear to be quite serious, but we will do everything we can."

He said he thinks a good deal depends on the willingness of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader, to support the measure. Dirksen has expressed firm opposition to the open housing provision of the bill.

In vetoing the insurance increase for federal workers, Johnson said that in the past 10 years the average federal salary rose by nearly 75%.

"Since life insurance is geared to the annual salary, this means that insurance has also increased by 75%," Johnson said. "Over the same period, the average pay of a factory worker increased 47%."

Since he became President Nov. 22, 1963, Johnson said, there have been four successive civilian pay increases and four insurance increases at a total cost of over $2 billion.

Teacher Defects As War Protest

Moscow (AP)—The Soviet Union announced Monday it has granted asylum to a 34-year-old American teacher and former Roman Catholic priest who defected in protest against U.S. policies in Viet Nam.

Tass identified the man as Harold M. Koch, born in Chicago, and unmarried. The official Catholic Directory of the United States lists, in the 1964 but not the 1965 edition, a priest named Harold M. Koch of the Chicago Archdiocese and gave his address as Niles, Ill.

The Soviet News Agency said his request for political asylum had been granted and quoted him as saying he made the request to protest "the criminal United States aggression in Viet Nam" and also to protest U.S. domestic policy on poverty and civil rights.

De Gaulle Plans West Indies Stop

De Gaulle's visit to French Polynesia was highlighted by the atmospheric detonation of a French atomic bomb. The president viewed the explosion from a cruiser 25 miles from the blast area.

NIKE DEFENSE MISSILE CONTRACT CONTINUED

Washington (AP)—The Army awarded a $256.58 million contract Monday for continued development and testing of an anti-missile defense system.

The award went to Western Electric Co., the prime contractor for the Nike-X system. The Pentagon said the cost-plus incentive fee contract covers design and development work, testing at the White Sands Missile Range, N.M., and operations at the Kwajalein Test Site in the Marshall Islands.

The award does not include funds for production or deployment of the anti-missile system. There have been indications that a decision to go ahead in setting up the Nike-X defense might come this fall.

Western Electric received a $221 million contract about a year ago for development and testing of Nike-X as a defense against inter-continental ballistic missiles and submarine-launched missiles.

The Defense Department has spent more than $2 billion since 1957 on research and development for the Nike-X. The defense appropriations bill now pending in Congress would provide $431.4 million for continued work on the system, plus $153.5 million to tool up for production in case a decision to set up the system is made.

The Nike-X system consists of Zeus missiles designed to intercept enemy nuclear warheads as far as 400 miles out in space, along with a super-fast Sprint missile intended to knock down any warheads which penetrate the atmosphere.

Cunningham Is Urging Reason For 'Give Away'

Washington (UPI)—Rep. Glenn Cunningham, R-Nebr., said Monday he was demanding an explanation from State Department officials as to why millions of dollars worth of American foreign aid "give away" goods are being lost to thieves in South Viet Nam.

Cunningham cited a report of CBS news correspondent Morley Safer which reported that aid "give away" goods, such as milk and other foods, are easily obtainable in any one of Saigon's "public" black markets.

Safer said these stolen articles are openly displayed.

N.Y. World Journal Tribune Born After 4 1/2-Month Delay

New York (AP)—A new New York afternoon daily, the World Journal Tribune, was born Monday, after 4 1/2 months of labor pains.

Union contract stalemates had delayed publication of the new newspaper for 140 days.

The first edition of the 900,000-copy press run was held up for more than an hour by what was described as the normal confusion of its first day. Mayor John V. Lindsay, scheduled to start the press, had to leave before they were ready to roll.

The new standard size, eight-column daily, which also will publish on Sunday, strikingly resembled in format the old World-Telegram and Sun. However, it contained many bylines and features from the old Journal-American and the morning Herald Tribune.

The lead editorial in the 80-page first edition announced: "This is a new newspaper. It combines the talents, the traditions and many of the features of three publications."

The paper sold for 10 cents, the standard newsstand price in recent years for New York afternoon dailies. The Sunday edition will be 30 cents in the city, 35 cents in the suburbs.

The World Journal Tribune emergence brought to four the number of major New York dailies of general circulation. It joined the afternoon Post and the morning Times and Daily News.

Beatrice May Get One-Way System

Southwest Nebraska Bureau

Beatrice — Barring a City Council change of heart, one-way streets probably will be serving motorists here this fall.

Finally spelled out in specifics after months of general discussion, the traffic proposal showed amazingly strong support its initial test. There wasn't a vote, no opposition voiced, and a vote to consider the resolution next meeting was unanimous.

As outlined, the city's two main highways (U.S. 77 and U.S. 136), which cross downtown will continue as two-way thoroughfares. Streets to either side will be changed to one-way almost the width of the city.

Fifth Street is proposed for southbound traffic, and 7th northbound. Ella, a block north of Court, will run traffic west and Market, south of Court, will handle eastbound traffic.

A shorter one-way, 8th Street, will serve southbound cars the six blocks between Lincoln and Market Streets.

Rex Lutz, traffic committee chairman, said it is hoped the plan goes into effect within the next few weeks. He cautioned, however, the opposition could develop.

Police Chief Merl Hesser backed the idea, noting that the most likely alternative would be "to remove the parking from Court St."

Downtown congestion was described by Councilman George Fulton as "simply a mess."

In other action, a request from the Park and Shop corporation to make use of the city's two off-street parking lots was tabled until the legality is determined. Several councilmen questioned whether the system would "take peoples' parking away unless they shopped."

Bill Boyce, president of the sponsoring merchants' group, noted that the lost "are not being used to the fullest extent."

As proposed, the corporation would pay 13 cents per hour for the parking and provide motorists an hour's free parking for each two dollar purchase.

Presumably attendees would replace recently installed meters on the lots. Facilities owned by the town's two banks will go into service Oct. 3, whether or not the city lots are used.

Competition for a bus service primarily for Pershing College, materialized with the council's approval of a second request in two weeks. Apparently the State Railway Commission will have to decide which group, or possibly both, to license.

Mark and Mary Clausen, operators of the Yellow Cab Service filed the latest application. An unnamed local group had applied at the last meeting.

A three-year review fees paid consulting engineers was authorized after being suggested by Fulton. Also discussed was the possibility of hiring a professional city engineer.

Dean Connell, representative of Harold Hoskins and Associates, pointed out that his Lincoln firm has had from four to 20 engineers on Beatrice projects.

Reinstatement of a $600-per-year office allowance to city physician Harry M. Heppert came on a 4-3 vote.

Several councilmen said the figure had been deleted from the current budget after Mayor Ray Elwood indicated another doctor could be obtained for the $600 annual salary alone.

The vote came after the Police chief lauded the physician's service and several councilmen remarked that "Dr. Heppert is not on trial here."

In other action:

—accepted resignation of Billy Harvey from volunteer fire department.

—approved application of John Wolken for trailer court permit at 366 West Court.

—approved appointment of William D. Hart to 5-year term on library board.

—voted to advertise for bids on 1964 city repair bills. Bids were received and largely covered by insurance.

Police Chief Merl Hesser backed the idea, noting that the most likely alternative would be "to remove the parking from Court St."

Downtown congestion was described by Councilman George Fulton as "simply a mess."

In other action, a request from the Park and Shop corporation to make use of the city's two off-street parking lots was tabled until the legality is determined. Several councilmen questioned whether the system would "take peoples' parking away unless they shopped."

Bill Boyce, president of the sponsoring merchants' group, noted that the lost "are not being used to the fullest extent."

POSTCARD

Autumn weather around here. Sunny days and moky twilights. When I rove home in the afternoon, the practice field was full of o m o r o w's heroes. They boot-d the foot-all around. h e y rouchd and pr ang at each other. r un ch! they panted and hrew each other roughly on he ground.

It's a curious game. One of he penalties is (used to be nyway) for "unnecessary oughness." What is "neces-sary roughness" was never explained to us.

The finest thing that has appened to football is there's o much money in it.

Pro football and the TV eople have adjusted them-selves to a point you don't ave to go and sit in narrow eats built for children. You to not have to walk 20 blocks rom a parked car.

No more the hot dog with he day-old bun. ("Mustard in it?")

Farewell to late comers tepping on your feet. ("Parn ne. Parn me.")

You can do this of course. ut you can also sit home nd have it on TV. You ouldn't last year. But this ear you can.

Football hardly needs a alk-in audience with TV ad-ertisers paying $70,000 a minute for time-out time.

This has improved the ame. It was very spirited to ie for dear old Rutgers. But t's nicer to live for a high lass contract.

It's a triumph of the free nterprise system.

When pro football was be-ginning, people said, "I just an't see how they'll get any pirit into the game. It's just a matter of money."

And now look. Money im-proves your spirit. Mine anyway.

☆☆☆ Nobody offered me any con-tracts when I was booting balls for Union High.

We were not very good out very spirited.

There was a theory of school days that "spirit" was some kind of mystical thing. It added wings to your shoes. It confounded the cowardly opposition.

It was talked about the day before the game in "rallies"—a kind of tribal prayer meeting.

"We gotta have spirit, gang!" we said.

Saturdays we went out spir-ited but butter-fingered. The other school beat the socks off us.

☆☆☆ In fact we did not win one single game. We tied one—0 to 0. They were pretty bad, too. But we did not win one.

This despite plenty of spir-it.

Despite cheer leaders who screamed encouragement and leaped high in the air.

Despite enthusiastic rallies. Despite the confidence of our fellow students. ("And I know they're gonna win, gang! Because they won't let the old school down, gang!")

Despite self denial of sweets and cigarettes.

We had everything going for us. Except players. We needed a few unspirited boys who could run or kick or pass or catch a ball. This ingredient we lacked.

☆☆☆ As has been shown by TV and pro ball (and somewhat in college ball), money helps the game along.

Good thing we found this out. Or we'd still be parking the car 20 blocks away and eating day-old hot dogs. Also we'd be watching inferior playing.

The boys I saw playing in our practice field are not getting any money. But they can watch the very best play-ers on TV. Not that money is everything, but it's com-forting to know while sport-ing that the rent is paid.

☆☆☆ We had a miserable season in my football day. We had a splendid play called "Old 4" But it was so complicat-ed we often lost the ball.

We decided we'd won sev-eral moral victories and set-tled for that.

Brown Hopes Nebraska-Iowa Boundary Dispute Can Be Settled Without Detailed Survey

State Surveyor Willis Brown said Monday he is hopeful the Nebraska-Iowa bound-ary dispute can be resolved without a detailed survey of the entire length of the bound-ary between the two states.

Brown said such a survey would keep two full-time field crews busy for 10 years, tracking the path of the Mis-souri River as far back as the early 1850's.

Without a comprehensive sur-vey, it's going to cost the states a tremendous amount of time and money," Brown said.

Brown noted his office has worked "on and off" for six years in surveying Nettleman Island in Cass County and Otoe Bend in Otoe County, which Iowa officials contend belong to that state.

Iowa officials were dis-closed last week to have staked a claim to 30 addition-al specific tracts of Nebras-ka real estate in the vicinity of the Missouri River. The claim was filed with the U.S. Supreme Court.

Brown said he believes the dispute can be settled on the basis of surveys on Nettleman Island and Otoe Bend which should "answer a lot of ques-tions about the other tracts."

The current litigation was carried to the U.S. Supreme Court by Nebraska more than a year ago.

New! Only from Hamm's! Real Draft Beer in new all-aluminum cans

The first perfect take-home package for draft beer

Hamm's real draft beer, brewery fresh from the tap, is beer at its best.

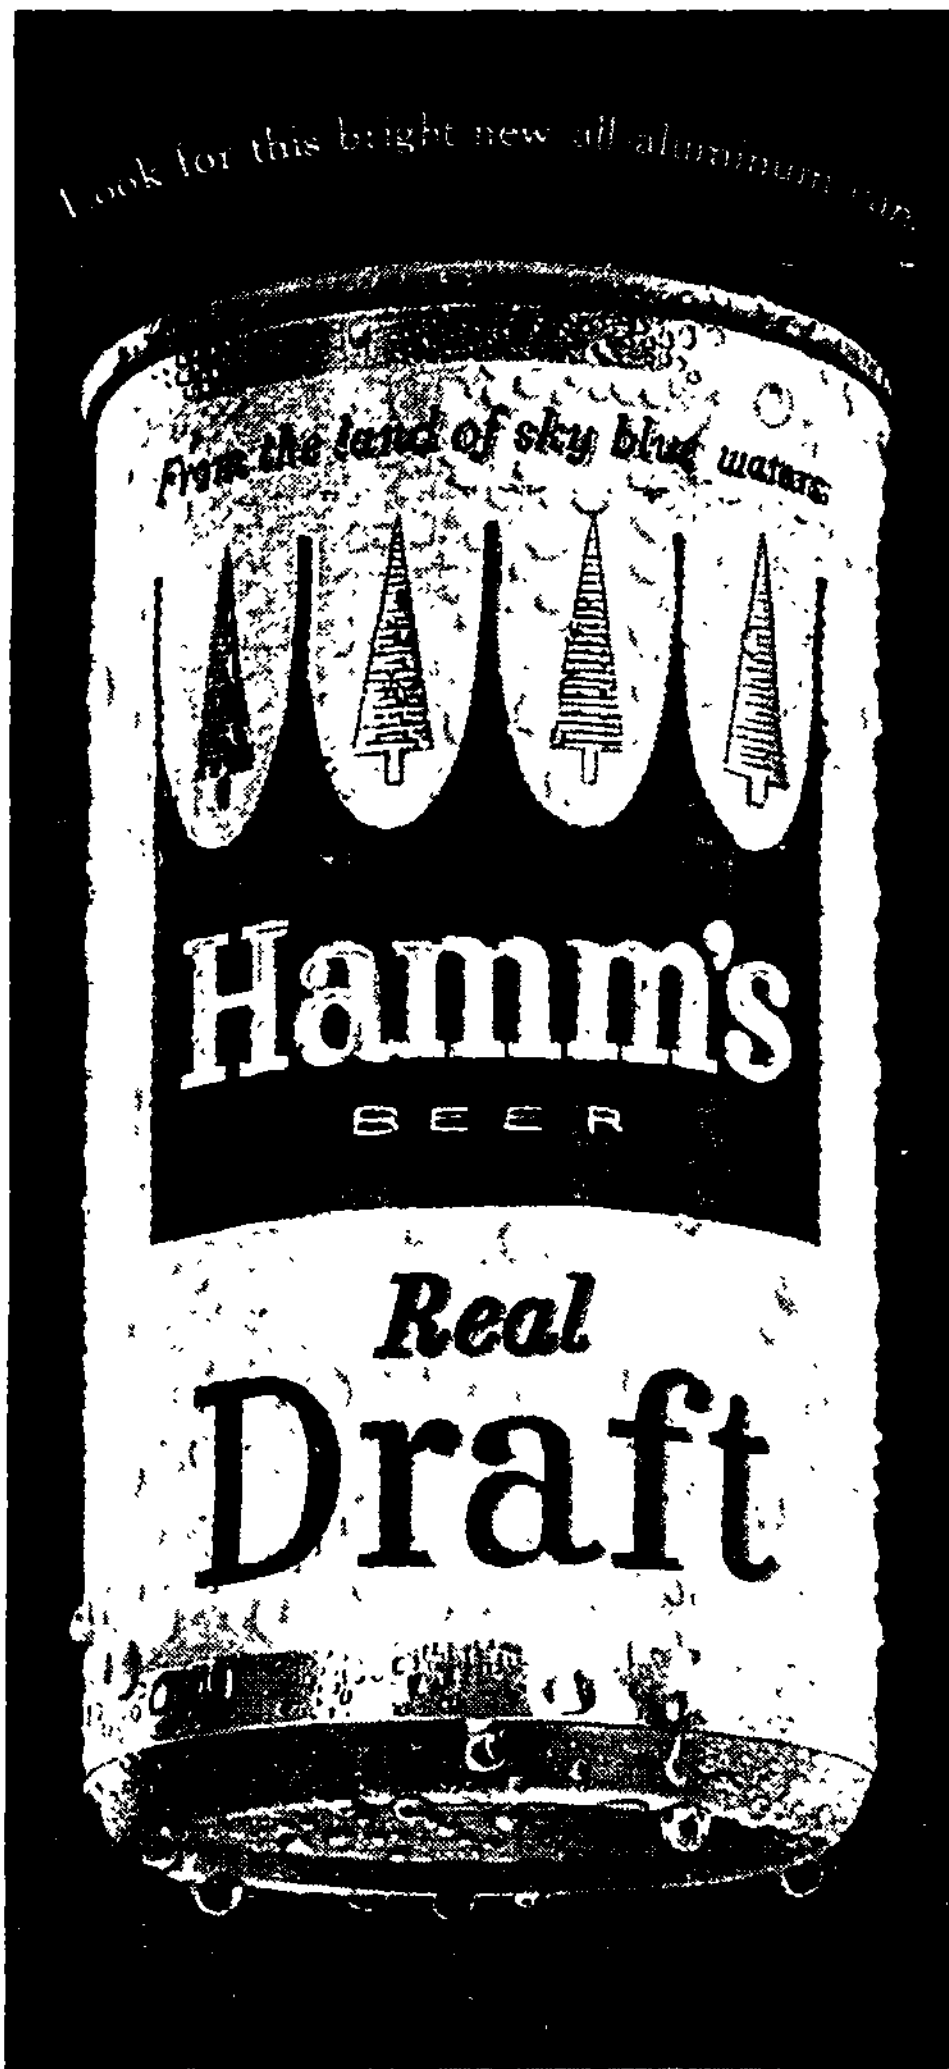

Beer drinkers know how good a glass of Hamm's draft beer tastes. They know the smooth, mellow, non-filling lightness of draft is light and easy on your thirst.

Until now, the fine draft beer brewed by Hamm's has not been bottled or canned because Hamm's felt they could not insure the high quality and delicate draft beer flavor of Hamm's for you in conven-tional take-home packages.

All-aluminum protects the delicate flavor of draft beer.

Brewers have known for years that aluminum is the one metal that actually protects the delicate flavor of draft beer. No other container can do the job as well. That's why Hamm's uses only all-aluminum kegs for their draft beer.

Seven years ago, Hamm's and the Reynolds Metals Co. began an extensive research program to develop a take-home package for draft beer.

That patience and research has paid off, with this, the most perfect package for draft beer.

The new seamless, all-aluminum can.

Different from the all-alu-minum draft beer keg only in size, shape and tap. You tap the all-aluminum can with a quick snap of the new ring-pull tab.

Now, Hamm's real draft beer, in the new all-aluminum can, is the same brewery fresh real draft beer you've always enjoyed before, but only on tap.

New can offers both protection and convenience.

Other advantages of this new all-aluminum can: It's light-weight, chills fast, can't rust. So friendly to the taste of beer. It gives Hamm's real draft beer the protection of alu-minum, and the convenience of the new ring-pull tab.

Take a six-pack of Hamm's new all-aluminum cans home today, and tap a can of Hamm's real draft beer...refreshing as the Land of Sky Blue Waters.

Autumn Brides-Elect Honored

Entertaining for an autumn bride-to-be on Wednesday evening will be Miss Barbara Pennington and Miss Sandra Hart who will be hostesses at the home of Miss Pennington in courtesy to Miss Marilyn Jeanne Carlton.

During the evening, a personal shower will be presented to the bride-elect, whose marriage to Ralph Lynn Williams will be an event of Sunday, Sept. 18.

Miss Carlton will share honors with her fiancé on Saturday evening when Mr. Williams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C.

Williams of Scottsbluff, will be host and hostess at dinner at East Hills Club. Members of the family and bridal party have been invited to the dinner, which will precede the wedding rehearsal at Havelock Methodist Church.

An honoree on Saturday evening was Miss Betty Zajicek, who has planned an October wedding for her marriage to Larry Witt.

Entertaining for the bride-elect was Miss Norma Lewandowski who was hostess to 10 guests at her home. A shower of kitchen utensils was presented to the honoree during the party.

Honored

A class of 53 freshmen students at Lincoln General Hospital School of Nursing was welcomed by the members of the hospital auxiliary Sunday afternoon, when Mrs. Donald Shurtleff entertained new students at tea at her home.

Preceding the informal party, new students were taken on a three-hour tour of the city by auxiliary members, Mrs. Duane Swanson, president, Mrs. J. Vaulk Risser and Mrs. James McKelvey.

with the queen and returns a heart, thus establishing West's long suit. When you later take a diamond finesse, you wind up going down one.

But if you go up with the ace at trick one and take a diamond finesse, you make the contract, because West has no way of cashing his hearts. You wind up with exactly nine tricks.

The proper play, percentage-wise, is to win the heart at trick one and try the diamond finesse. True, you go down if it develops that West started with the king of diamonds and five hearts to the K-Q, and would have made the contract if you had played low from dummy, but, despite this possibility, you are better off in the long run to take the ace of hearts at once.

That is because there are many more cases where East has the K-x or Q-x of heart than there are cases where East has neither high heart. If East does have the K-x or Q-x, you insure the contract by playing the ace at trick one, but you jeopardize the contract by playing low from dummy instead.

Playing the ace is the clearcut percentage play.

The one thing no other life insurance company can offer your family...

...is a Mass Mutual agent.

There are, let's face it, a number of fine life insurance companies. Quite a few of them can offer you highly flexible policies. And, frankly, costs don't vary much from company to company.

But there is one big difference among life insurance companies—and that lies in the ability of their agents. They're the men who help you plan one of the most important programs you'll ever undertake.

How do Mass Mutual men measure up? Here are the solid facts on Mass Mutual agents compared with the industry average: Four times as many have achieved the Chartered Life Underwriter designation...five times as many have earned the National Quality Award...nine times as many are members of the Million Dollar Round Table.

Aren't these the kind of men you'd like to talk with about your family's future, your children's schooling, your own retirement—or your company's business life insurance needs?

Their outstanding record speaks for itself. It shows that Mass Mutual men are an elite corps of skilled professionals.

BRIDE of former Lincoln man

The marriage of Miss Barbara Lewis, daughter of Mrs. Price Lewis of Arlington, Va., and of Col. Willis Franklin Lewis, USAF, Paris, France, to Eric James Swenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hervey G. Swenson of Lincoln, was solemnized late Saturday afternoon, Sept. 10, at Grace Church, Episcopal, in Alexandria, Va.

Mrs. J. Stephen Ferguson of Ocean-side, Calif., as the matron of honor, appeared in an Empire frock of white chiffon trimmed in primrose and vivid pink. Wearing similar frocks in vivid pink were Miss Francine Zuzzolo, Mt. Vernon, N.Y., the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Paula Yates, Fairfax, Va.; Mrs. William L. Sturdevant, Washington, D.C.; and Miss Celeste McAshan, Paris, Ky.

Serving his brother as best man was Christopher H. Swenson of Washington, D.C., and seating the guests were L. Clayton DuBois, Princeton, N.J.; P. Gerry Maurer, New York City; Stephen B. Meyer, Summit, N.J.; P. Gerry Maurer, New York City; Stephen P. Meyer, Summit, N.J.; Ralph Lewis and John Holden, Arlington, Va.; and Philip R. Tracy, Riverdale, Md.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Dr. Harry L. Lewis of Benton, Ill., the bride wore a directoire gown of imported white silk organza, patterned with peau d'ange lace. The lace framed the cameo neckline of the high-waisted basque, and the skirt of controlled fullness continued into a cotillion train. Her Bianchi veil of silk illusion was held by a coiffure circlet of lace.

The couple will reside in Washington, D.C. Mrs. Swenson attended Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia at Fredericksburg, and the bridegroom, a graduate of Blair Academy, Blairstown, N.H., and Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif., is a student at George Washington University School of Law.

FORMER coed is mid-September bride

Topiary trees of broad-leaved variegated ivy lined the processional aisle of the Cathedral of the Risen Christ where the wedding of Miss Sandra Sue Lichtenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon R. Lichtenberg, and Calvin Edward Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leach E. Robinson of Broken Bow, took place on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 10. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Clarence J. Crowley solemnized the 3 o'clock ceremony before a background of woodwardia fern, which bordered the chancel, and groupings of lighted cathedral candles caught with clusters of white Fujii chrysanthemums. Michael Veak played the wedding music.

Emerald green was the color chosen for the alike floor-length serge frocks of the attendants including Mrs. Lionel A. Brown, the matron of honor; bridesmaids Mrs. Larry Cundall of Boulder, Colo.; Mrs. Richard Falconer of Fargo, N.D.; and Mrs. Roger Hall of Houston, Tex. Miss Sonya Pohlman of Aurora Colo. was the bridesmaid. Frock-toned pillbox hats of serge completed the costumes and each carried a cascade bouquet of green cypripedium orchid with ivy strands and camellia foliage.

C. L. Robinson of Omaha served his brother as best man and seating the guests were James Dunleavy, Richard F. Nelson and the Hon. William J. Panec of Fairbury.

The bride appeared in a gown of antique white serge. The bias-cut Empire bodice, designed with a crescent neckline, had elbow-length funnel sleeves banded in Opal pink and was smoothly sculptured above the long skirt, its slender silhouette accentuated with a square-cut Watteau train which extended into cathedral length. A toque of the Opal pink held in place her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion in antique white, and she carried an Empire nosegay of candlelight cymbidium orchids and gypsophiles.

Upon their return from a honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Robinson will reside at 3137 W. Summit Blvd.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Delta Gamma sorority. Mr. Robinson also was graduated from the University of Nebraska and the University of Nebraska College of Law. He is a member of Delta Theta Phi, law fraternity, and now is serving as an assistant attorney general.

There's Fun Talk Around Town

The atmosphere in Lincoln is exceedingly festive these days. This is due, of course, to those delightful invitations that have found their way into various mailboxes. It's to be a gay season, and it begins when the approaching weekend arrives—Friday evening is the 6 o'clock to 8 o'clock party for which Mr. and Mrs. George Cook will be host and hostess at the Lincoln Country Club. We've mentioned it before so you already know that Mr. and Mrs. Cook are complimenting their sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Cook, III, of St. Louis, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. G. Bradford Cook of Chicago—

Then comes Saturday—the Nebraska-TCU game—and a pregame luncheon which Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Statton and Dr. and Mrs. Quentin Bradley are host and hostessing when they entertain at the Lincoln Country Club.

We already have told you about the pregame affair for which Mr. and Mrs. Jack Holmquist, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schorr III, and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hudson are having at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Holmquist.

The following weekend, Sept. 24, brings another exciting game—and more parties.

Preceding the Nebraska-Utah State game Mr. and Mrs. John E. Van Bloom are entertaining at a pregame party at their home. And please keep your fingers crossed on the matter of weather. No rain, please, Mr. and Mrs. Van Bloom are planning a German garden affair.

Before we begin on some other interesting news we want to mention some weekend guests. In town, and the house guests of Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Pierson, were Mrs. Bernice Beard of Houston, Tex., and three visitors from Liberty, Tex.—Miss Miriam Partlow, Miss Mary Lilystrom, and Mrs. Emma Buchanan.

The Texans came for one specific purpose—to attend the concert presented on Sunday afternoon at Trinity Methodist Church by Jerry Hohnbaum, organist and choir director at Trinity Methodist.

It was, in a way, a nostalgic journey—Mr. Hohnbaum came to Lincoln from Liberty, Tex., where he was organist at one of the churches.

At this moment we roll out the red carpet for very young and very petite Miss Stacey Buck who arrived on Friday, Sept. 9, at Lincoln General Hospital. The young lady is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn L. Buck of Wood Lake, Neb., and her mother is the former Linda Kimmel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kimmel of Omaha—and Kappa Alpha Theta at Nebraska. We scarcely need to tell you that the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn A. Buck—but we did.

Then we learned that Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Beechner of Scottsbluff, recently of Lincoln, are the parents of a daughter, Sara Kay, who put in an appearance on Wednesday, Sept. 7, at Scottsbluff. The very young Miss Beechner, who is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Dill of Belvidere, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Beechner of Lincoln, has an older sister, Lea Ann, 7, and a brother, Richard, 4, who currently is the house-guest of his Lincoln grandparents.

The baby's father, incidentally, is the new football coach at the new Hiram Scott College in Scottsbluff.

ABBY: husbands are more important

DEAR ABBY: I also used to be disgusted with the women I'd see on the street with their hair all rolled up in curlers. But after reading that letter in your column from the young wife who said it was more important for her hair to look nice for her husband when he came home in the evening, than for the mailman, grocer, and the man on the street, I changed my mind. Thanks for printing it. NO LONGER DISGUSTED

DEAR ABBY: Because of my own experience, I'm with you on not wasting sympathy on "WOODLEY'S WIFE," who couldn't bear her husband's baldness. Eleven years ago I, too, married a man who was prematurely bald, and he has been the most wonderful husband possible. He's kind, considerate, intelligent, and a good provider. He also has a marvelous sense of humor and is no slouch in the romance department either.

Is it any wonder that when we're together people don't even notice his lack of locks? They're blinded by the stars in my eyes. HAPPY WIFE IN L. A.

DEAR ABBY: If this didn't happen to me I would never have believed it. My mother called me long distance last night around midnight. (I am 29, self-supporting and live out of the state.) Mother said she had been receiving strong "vibrations" all evening about me, and she just had to call to see if everything was all right. Well, an hour before mother called the man with whom I had been keeping steady company for four years proposed to me! We were sitting there debating whether to call Mother and tell her the news. Now, how do you account for that? "MYSTIFIED" IN ALLENTOWN

DEAR MYSTIFIED: If you are asking me whether your mother's "vibrations" could have been attributed to extra sensory perception—yes, they could. (And also to her woman's intuition, and possibly a mother's wishful thinking.)

DEAR ABBY: I had the same kind of situation as "WANTS ROMANCE", but I didn't just sit around and wait for him to thaw out. After the third date I came right out and told him what was on my mind, and I asked him if there was something wrong with HIM, or was there something wrong with ME! He said, "Oh, so you want to be kissed!" Then he kissed me so hard he nearly broke my collar bone. We were married five months later and have been married for nine years, and we have six children. So I guess that proves that honesty is the best policy. "GOT ROMANCE" PLANTSVILLE, CONN.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "P. D.Q." IN CAIRO, ILLINOIS: A blood test is required in your state, but there is no waiting period. The girl must be 18 and the boy 21 to marry without parental consent. Better check this out with your local authorities. Laws change.

NEWS

of suburbia involves memories of summer

The activity in suburbia today seems to be limited to daydreaming—about those summer holidays, of course. And in case anyone's memory in running out of memories we have stocked up on vacation and visitor news this morning.

FIENE HEIGHTS

On Thursday of this week Mr. and Mrs. Wilber A. Miller will leave on a journey that has both pleasant and sad aspects. The twosome will escort their daughter, Mary Ann, to Vermillion, S.D., where young Miss Miller will be starting her junior year at the State University of South Dakota. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will only stay the day and should be back in town on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wittrock and their sons, Mick, Richard and Lee, have returned from a week's holiday in Colorado. The Lincoln family traveled to Denver to be the houseguests of former Nebraskaans. Mr. and Mrs. Alan Rodenberg. From that capital city it was only an hour's drive to visit with Capt. and Mrs. James Keating. Capt. Keating is on the faculty of the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs.

Perhaps the biggest event of the summer according to the three younger Wittrocks occurred after the family returned to Lincoln. During the week of Aug. 22 to 27, the youngsters and their mother were residents of the YMCA Camp Kitiki at South Bend.

KESSLER HEIGHTS

Van Dorn Park was the site of a birthday celebration on Sunday, Sept. 4. Mark, Steven and Diane Block, the sons and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Block, were hosts and hostess at a picnic spread to celebrate their 10th, sixth and second anniversaries, respectively. Guests included friends. Curtis Bargin, Robert Schmucker and Scott and Craig Hotter. Also attending were grandparents Mrs. James Williams, Mr. and Mrs. George Block, and Mrs. Annetta Bute, the children's aunt.

EASTBOROUGH

Wednesday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. LaVern Stetson were Mrs. Stetson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wasserburger and her brother, Larry, all of Valley. The Wasserburgers stopped by the Stetson home on the return leg of a vacation that took them to the northwestern states.

Mrs. Walter Shafer and her daughter, Linda, returned home last week from a month's vacation stay in Ogallala and North Platte, where they were guests of relatives and friends of Mrs. Shafer.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Viquain welcomed guests for Labor Day weekend. The guests were Mr. Viquain's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Viquain, from Albuquerque, N.M. During their stay in Lincoln the Viquain's also visited Mr. Viquain's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Viquain and, of course, attended the fair.

Other Labor Day visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Faver, of Orange City, Ia., ended Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hamilton's round of summertime guests. Mrs. Hamilton estimates that she had only two weeks without overnight guests this summer. Other recent guests at the Hamilton home were Mr. and Mrs. David Drury and their four children of Hammond, Ind.

SOUTH HILLS

Returning Wednesday from a camping holiday Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hardekopf arrived home just in time to ready the youngsters, Laura, Michael and Mary Jo, for school. Their 10-day trek took the Lincoln residents first to Alexandria to join friends and on down to Manhattan, Kan. where the family enjoyed several days of outdoor life on Tuttle Creek.

More recently activity in the South Hills neighborhood included a back-to-school luncheon Monday given for the most deserving members of suburbia—the mothers. Mrs. Hal Rice was the hostess for the noon affair and her guests were Mrs. Paul Fridrich, Mrs. Jerry Haymore Smith, Mrs. Gerald Smith, Mrs. Bud Yant, Mrs. Lyle Trease, Mrs. Marvin Price, Mrs. George Pearce, Mrs. Lyle Welshahn, Mrs. Robert Neugebauer, Mrs. Gladys Neugebauer and Mrs. Harold Kubick.

HOSE arly autumn wedding

Clusters of lighted white candles decorated the chancel of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Saturday afternoon, Sept. 10, for the marriage of Miss Jon Anne Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Henderson, to Ronald Kent Einspahr, son of Sylvester Einspahr of Imperial, and the late Mrs. Einspahr. The 4 o'clock service was solemnized by Dr. Robert E. Palmer, assisted by the Rev. James Kragness of Dvovray, Minn.

Wearing long-skirted frocks of blue-green paisley silk brocade were Mrs. Marshall Jurgens, the honor attendant; Miss Nancy Henderson and Miss Susan Smith, the bridesmaids; Mrs. Larry Martin of Denver, and Mrs. Thomas McGinnis, Davenport, Iowa, the bridesmatrons; and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Mary Adele Henderson.

Marshall Jurgens served Mr. Einspahr as best man, and the corps of ushers included Darrel Einspahr, Ogden, Utah; Keith Carlson, Holdrege; Bob Peterson, Columbus; Merle Schlines, Omaha; and Miles Henderson.

Re-embroidered Alencon lace formed the bell sleeves of the bride's gown of white silk taffeta. Appliques of the lace were repeated on the Empire bodice above the slender skirt, which continued into an aisle-wide train, and her train-length veil of imported silk lace was draped over a pillbox cap of the silk. She carried an arrangement of white Amazon lilies, gypsophylla and satin petals.

Mr. and Mrs. Einspahr, both graduates of the University of Nebraska, will live in Omaha. The bride served as president of her sorority, Alpha Delta Pi, and Mr. Einspahr's fraternity Alpha Gamma Rho.

Marriage

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Aylyffe Binfield of Hinsdale, Ill., formerly of Lincoln, of the marriage of their daughter, Sharon Leslie, to Alfred Thompson, son of Mrs. Lela Thompson of Bloomington, Ind., on Monday afternoon, Aug. 22. The ceremony was solemnized at 4 o'clock in Bloomington.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Pamela Horsely and William Elliott, both students at Indiana University in Bloomington.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, where she is a member of Alpha Kappa sorority and recipient of the drama department Dallas Award. She appeared in numerous Pinewood Bowl productions, and taught vocal music in the Wahoo Schools. In August, she received her master's degree in music from Indiana University. She was a former student at Evansville College, Evansville, Ind. Mr. Thompson is a graduate of Indiana University, where he has been a teaching assistant while studying for his Masters degree in music.

The couple will reside in Tulsa, Okla., where Mr. Thompson will continue graduate study at East Central University, and where Mr. Thompson will be a member of the music education faculty.

Rushing Teams Win
Football coaches have two chances of satisfying their fans. One is to win. The other is to pass. And the quickest way to a fan's heart is the former. But the best way of obtaining wins is not by passing.

You have to be able to pass to make your ground game go. Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney points out. "But it's the rushing team that wins conference championships."

And statistics bear the Husker master out. Even in the pass-happy pro leagues, the greatest pro team is the one that depends more on the running of Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung than on the passing of Bart Starr.

The best record among the top 10 passing teams last season in the collegiate ranks was 8-3. Six of the top 10 rushing teams had a better record than that.

And the top 10 rushing teams played far superior schedules to the 10 leading passing teams. The schedules that Texas Western and Tulsa faced cannot compare with those faced by Nebraska, Missouri, and Michigan State.

None of the top 10 rushing teams had a losing record, but of the top 10 passing elevens, three showed more losses than wins.

The top 10 rushers and records: 1. Nebraska 10-1; 2. Southern Cal 7-2-1; 3. Missouri 8-2-1; 4. Syracuse 7-3; 5. Cornell 4-3-2; 6. Michigan State 10-1-0; 7. Dartmouth 9-0-0; 8. Arkansas 10-1-0; 9. Penn State 5-3-0; 10. Princeton 8-1-0.

The top 10 passers and records: 1. Tulsa 8-3; 2. Texas Western 8-3; 3. North Texas State 3-7; 4. Louisville 6-4; 5. Texas Tech 8-3; 6. Pittsburgh 3-7; 7. Florida 7-4; 8. Oregon 4-3-1; 9. Brigham Young 6-4; 10. Kentucky 6-4.

Sooners Light This Year
Football fans, who remember Oklahoma in the days of Ralph Neely, Ed McQuarters and other hefty gridders, will hardly recognize the Sooners this season.

Oklahoma's offensive line averages only 207 and the defensive average tops that figure by only two pounds.

The heaviest Sooner is tackle Jim Riley at 241 while the lightest are Dave Terrell and Joe Pearce, both at 163. Bob Warnack one of the sophomores bidding for the quarterback job, weighs only 166.

Ready To Go Back In
The story concerns the high school tackle, who was taken out because he couldn't stop a big, bruising fullback.

On the bench the tackle told a mate: "I wish the coach would send me back in. I want to get that guy."

"Think you can handle that fullback now," his teammate inquired.

"No, no. Not him. I want to get the quarterback for sending that goon over my position on every play."

And a poem:
Football is a game of speed
Finesse and fine precision
Of brawn & brains & aches & pains
& stops for television.

Would You Believe A 4-Iron
For those of you who may be wondering how Dr. Everett Angle was able to hit a nine-iron for a hole-in-one on the Lincoln Country Club's 155-yard fifth hole, relax.

Dr. Angle doesn't quite hit them as far as Jack Nicklaus. Even LCC pro Bud Williamson doesn't use a nine-iron on that hole.

Would you believe Dr. Angle actually pulled the feat with a four-iron. The story that he used a nine-iron resulted from the joshing he took from friends.

OPENER SATURDAY

Westover Pleased With Plainsman '11'

By JOHN HINES
Star Sports Writer
Nebraska Wesleyan conducted a crisp 2 1/2-hour workout Monday afternoon and Plainsmen grid coach Ray Westover seemed pleased with the progress of the school's 1966 team just five days short of the season opener.

The club concluded the practice with a 45-minute head-knocking session, which included a mixture of Midland College plays. Wesleyan goes to Fremont for a 7:30 p.m. season-opener Saturday night.

Wesleyan has three straight victories over Midland, including a 19-6 triumph a year ago. The Plainsmen start their five-game home schedule, the next Saturday, September 24, at 7:30 p.m. against Huron, S.D., State, the only new team on the nine-game card.

Wesleyan's wing T offense moved the ball well and Westover said, "We're starting to jell a little more and our offensive backs are starting to come along." He declined to single out any players on either the offensive or defensive unit, pending further practices this week that will bring the starting teams into closer focus.

"The rest of this week, we're just going over our mistakes we made in Saturday's scrimmage and trying to sharpen up," Westover added.

He did mention, though, that a couple of lettermen, Dale Pelz and Denny Quick, would likely be two-way performers as offensive ends and defensive halfbacks. Assistant coach Don Ewen pointed out, however, "Our offensive line has to pick up."

a fact that is a secret to nobody since only Quick returns from the front seven of last fall. Letterman tackle Bob Parker had a good scrimmage, throwing one key block that resulted in a long gain.

John Westland and Doug Dworak are battling it out for the vacant quarterback spot, but much of the team's attack will center around 170-pound senior left half Bill Rohrig. "He's really a good one," Ewen claims.

Defensively, six starters return, with the secondary the strongest point. NWU intercepted five passes in the 1965 victory over Midland.

One defender, linebacker Neal Horner, is expected to be out this week and next with an ankle injury suffered in last Saturday's scrimmage. Defensive end Larry Tiedje missed practice Monday because of after effects of the flu, but he is expected back soon.

There will be heavy emphasis on the aerial game Tuesday, with passers and receivers coming out earlier than the rest of the squad. Likewise the kickers, where Roger Sands and Greg Peterson are newcomers to extra points and kickoffs. Quick will be retained as the punter.

Ewen did express a hope of optimism as the third week of practice got underway. "We're better than we thought we'd be then we looked at ourselves on paper. We're far ahead of what we expected."

Some Husker Positions Still Undecided
... INJURIES, COMPETITION LEAVE FOUR SPOTS UNSETTLED

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Several starting assignments are still uncertain as Nebraska begins the final week of drills for Saturday's opening football test against Texas Christian at Memorial Stadium.

Two positions are unsettled because of injuries to front-liners and two other positions are the scene of close battles between players of near-equal abilities.

"We can't tell how good we'll be until we play a game," head coach Bob Devaney told the first Extra Point Club meeting of the season Monday. "But we have had more trouble this fall with injuries to key personnel than in the past."

Injuries to front-line halfbacks Harry Wilson and Ron Kirkland leave those two positions in doubt as the opener approaches. "We think they will be ready to play Saturday," Devaney pointed out. However, both have lost valuable practice time.

Should either of the starting halfbacks not be ready, Charlie Winters would move into Kirkland's left halfback post and sophomore Dick Davis would fill Wilson's role.

"Winters has finally been convinced by coach (Mike) Corgan that blocking is an important part of this game," Devaney mentioned. "And in our last two scrimmages, he has looked good with his blocking."

"Davis also had a good scrimmage last Saturday." The two positions where there is a battle for the starting job is a split end where Dennis Richnafsky and Tom Penney are waging a fight and at right linebacker with Rick Coleman and Barry Alvarez contesting.

Richnafsky and Coleman hold a slight edge at present.

One problem spot for the Huskers could be at center where Kelly Petersen is all alone. No. 2 center Bob Hill is definitely out of the TCU opener, leaving no experienced center backing up Petersen.

Answering a question from athletic director Tippy Dye, Devaney jestingly expressed confidence that the Huskers could match last year's punting average of 34.6 yards.

"I was trying to avoid discussing the punting until you asked that question," Devaney told Tippy.

Offensive line coach Carl Selmer, discussing the Saturday opponent from information culled through the study of films, warned the luncheon audience that TCU speed could spell trouble for the burly Huskers. "Their backs are big and they have fine speed," Selmer said. "They (TCU) feel they have the best backfield in the country and they have two sophomore backs who weigh 200 pounds and run the 100 in 9.6."

"We don't have anybody that can catch that kind of speed."

A change in TCU's offensive formation also is causing concern in the Husker coaching quarters.

"When we played them a year ago, they were running out of the Winged-T," Selmer pointed out. "But now they have switched to a Slot-T with Sonny Campbell as the split end."

"He is supposed to be the best receiver in the league and if he's better than those Baylor showed on TV Saturday, we could be in trouble."

Three young Lincoln executives are marketing buttons urging a Husker victory each week — and they're playing them one at a time.

The buttons, on sale at most Lincoln business places, are 2 1/2 inches in diameter and are white with red lettering. This week's button's bear the words, "Beat T.C.U."

Buttons next week will urge the Huskers to "Beat Utah State."

Two Shoot 69s For Low Pro Honors

Omaha — Jerry Dugan of Omaha Highland Country Club and John Elizondo of Omaha Miracle Hills tied for low pro honors with one-under-par 69s in a pro-am at Omaha Miracle Hills Monday afternoon.

Dugan's team of Tom Williamson of Lincoln, Glen Brawner of Nebraska City and Jerry Rosen of Omaha Highland also won team honors with a best ball of 59.

Results:
LOW PRO-1. (tie) Jerry Dugan, Omaha Highland, and John Elizondo, Omaha Miracle Hills, 69, 3. Tom Hornbuckle, Omaha Miracle Hills, 71.
LOW AMATEUR (Scratch)—1. Gordon Saffer, Omaha, 70, 2. Gary Shields, Lincoln, 72; 3. Tom Hopkins, Omaha, 73.
LOW AMATEUR (Handicap)—1. Glen Brawner, Nebraska City, 64; 2. Bill Gilmore, Omaha, 65; 3. (tie) Jerry Rosen, Omaha, and John McKinney, Omaha, 67.
LOW TEAM-1. Pro Jerry Dugan, Omaha Highland Country Club, with amateurs Tom Williamson, Lincoln, Glen Brawner, Nebraska City, and Jerry Rosen, 59.
2. Pro John Elizondo, Omaha Miracle Hills, with amateurs Lee Roberts, Tim Rosen and Lee Darter, all of Omaha, 62; 3. (tie) Pro Tom Hornbuckle, Omaha Miracle Hills, with amateurs Ed George, Gary Booth and Ed Moore; Pro Kent Lyons, Omaha Cedar Hills, with amateurs Tom Hopkins, John Dwyer, and Jim McKinney; and Pro Ken Tipton, Omaha Sunset Valley, with amateurs Fred Backhus, Dick Dumar, and Robert Lane.

KU Switches Bill Wohlford To Defense

Lawrence, Kan. (AP)—Bill Wohlford was moved from offensive center to first string defensive guard on the Kansas football team Monday.

"We may start Wohlford both ways for a while," said Coach Jack Mitchell.

Bob Kreutzer, recovering from a knee operation, went back to the No. 1 center spot, and Mitchell said he hoped Kreutzer "will be strong enough by Saturday to play most of the offense."

Sophomore Junior Riggins was promoted to No. 1 halfback, while two other sophomore backs, Bill Esters and Mike Harris, were counted out of consideration for the Texas Tech game Saturday. Both have lame knees.

Russell To Join New York Knicks

New York (AP)—The New York Knickerbockers went high Monday and hauled in Michigan's Cazzie Russell, out-bidding the Harlem Globetrotters for the services of the 1965 college basketball Player of the Year.

"I'm no comedian," said the 6-foot-5 1/2 two-time All-American at a news conference. "I seriously was considering playing for the Trotters, but I know I'm going to enjoy the brand of ball they play in the National Basketball Association."

Terms of Russell's agreement with the Knicks were not disclosed. However, it was reported that he will receive more than $200,000 spread over a long-term contract.

Russell has not yet signed. However, a club spokesman said this was a mere formality and that Russell will report to the Knicks' training camp at Cornwall-on-Hudson, N.Y. Tuesday. "We will start him off in the guard position," disclosed Eddie Donovan, New York's general manager.

NU FANS—Detours Pose Little Problem

By United Press International
Fans traveling by auto to the Nebraska-Texas Christian football opener Saturday here will encounter some road work but few detours.

That was the report Monday of John McMeekin, State Roads Department maintenance engineer.

McMeekin gave this picture of the highways leading into Lincoln and expanded Memorial Stadium.

The Interstate is open to east and west traffic from Omaha to Lincoln. Game-bound motorists are urged to use Interstate 180 (downtown access) when leaving the superhighway at Lincoln.

The Interstate is also open from York to Lincoln for east-bound traffic. West-bound cars will be routed off the Interstate at the Millard interchange.

Motorists coming into Lincoln from the south and southwest can take U.S. 81 to the Interstate at York.

Fans coming into Lincoln from the north can get on the Interstate near Seward via U.S. 34 and Neb. 127. They can also come directly into Lincoln on U.S. 34, Neb. 79 and U.S. 77.

Eastbound travelers on U.S. 6 can take Neb. 33 to U.S. 77, then north to Lincoln. A five-mile detour between Dorchester and Crete on Neb. 33 was recently eliminated.

The Highway Department advises against entering Lincoln from the east on U.S. 6.

In the city of Lincoln, portions of Cornhusker Highway (U.S. 6) from 27th to 36th Sts. are under construction and reduced to two-lane travel. The 10th St. route to Memorial Stadium from U.S. 6 is closed because of bridge construction over Salt Creek.

McMeekin urged motorists coming into Lincoln from the west and north on U.S. 34 and Neb. 79 to use Interstate 180 access for congestion — free travel to the stadium.

Nearly all stadium parking areas open last year are open again this year.

Des Moines Pro Wins Iowa Open

Okoboji, Iowa (AP)—Joe Brown, professional from Des Moines, won his fifth Iowa Open golf championship Sunday by sinking a 25-foot eagle putt on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff to defeat three others Sunday.

After the regulation 72 hole Brown was tied at 209 with amateur George Lee of Humboldt and pros Dave Gumila of Minneapolis and Terry Comstock of Sioux Falls, S.D.

Dean Wilson Jr., Omaha, and Don Bridge, Norfolk, Neb., were tied for seventh at 212 with Jack Webb of Fargo, N.D.

Wunderlich Wins Small Bore Title

Omaha (AP)—Manfred Wunderlich of Hastings won the first sharpshooter award with a score of 3,173 in the Nebraska Small Bore Rifle Championships Sunday.

Bruce Johnson of Des Moines, Iowa, was the overall leader with a score of 3,192 out of a possible 3,200. Jim Tempest of Omaha won the state trophy with a score of 3,187.

Fred Brooks of Council Bluffs, Iowa, was the high junior shooter at 3,124.

Dodgers Edge New York, 3-2

... FIFTH STRAIGHT WIN

Los Angeles (AP)—Willie Davis scored all the way from first base on a two-run, fifth-inning single by Tommy Davis Monday night as the Los Angeles Dodgers edged New York, 3-2, and stretched their winning streak to five games.

The victory lifted the Dodgers 1 1/2 games ahead of second-place Pittsburgh and 2 1/2 ahead of third-place San Francisco, both idle in the National League race.

The victory went to Ron Perranoski, 6-7, who pitched four shutout innings of relief and tied a National League record for relievers by striking out the first six batters he faced. The record is shared by Jack Meyere of Philadelphia, 1958, and Pete Richer of the Dodgers, 1962.

The Dodgers, trailing 2-1, won the game in the fifth inning after loser Tug McGraw, 2-8, walked the first two batters.

Ed Kranepool singled home a New York run in the second inning—the first run allowed by Dodger pitching in 39 innings.

Jerry Grote hit a run-scoring single for the Mets in the fourth. It came after Cleon Jones singled and stole second.

Sanction Of Merger Proposed

Washington (AP)—Congressional sanction of the projected merger of the National and American Football Leagues was proposed Monday by Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla.

In introducing his bill, Cramer, ranking Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, criticized Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., for refusal to consider legislation to accomplish the merger.

Celler reportedly has told NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle to proceed with the merger but that his committee would not consider legislation to accomplish it.

Cramer said that without specific legislative approval, the question of whether the merger would be in violation of the anti-trust laws as an agreement in restraint of trade would remain uncertain.

The Floridan said the accumulated treble damages that could arise, should someone bring suit successfully against the merger, could exceed the combined income of all the franchises and literally wipe out professional football. A Chicago group already has announced plans to challenge the merger in court.

"It is highly questionable whether, in view of the uncertain situation without legislation, a responsible sports organization involving 26 or more franchises in 25 or more cities can afford to go ahead with measures of this nature," Cramer said.

Cramer's bill would have the effect of permitting the new merged league to begin operations in 1967 free of the possibility of a legal challenge based solely on the agreement for an expanded league as announced this past June.

The bill would protect attendance at high school and college football games by not permitting the telecast of professional football games on any Friday evening after 6 p.m.

A bill much like Cramer's also has been introduced in the Senate.

Cyclones End Pre-Wisconsin Contact Work

Ames, Iowa (AP)—Iowa State's offensive units ran plays against various defensive formations, then topped off the two-hour drill with a five-minute punting workout Monday.

Coach Clay Stapleton said there will be no more contact work for the Cyclones before their season opener at Wisconsin Saturday.

After watching movies of Saturday's game scrimmage, Stapleton praised the work of sophomore Tom Saxe, No. 2 defensive tackle.

Stillwater, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma State University named two senior tackles Monday as co-captains of the opening football game with Arkansas Saturday night in Little Rock.

They are J. B. Christian and Dennis Randall. Christian is on the offensive team, Randall on the defensive unit.

Head coach Phil Cutchin indicated three sophomores would be his quarterbacks — Ronnie Johnson, Mike Arnold and Bruce Scott — but not necessarily in that order.

"Cutchin said: 'I won't know until game time Saturday about our quarterback. It will be between the three who have been getting the most work lately. I'm sure all three will play.'"

The Cowboys went through a light running drill Monday.

... TO BE SUBMITTED TO STATE THIS WEEK

University of Nebraska expenses during the 1967-69 biennium will be approved sometime this week and submitted to the state Department of Administrative Services in preparation for legislative consideration next year.

NU Board of Regents Monday authorized its finance committee to make the final judgment on the budget requests upon completion of tabulations of current funds and requests and deliver the document to the state department in accordance with requirements of LB 173 requiring such action by Thursday.

Release of the budget requests prior to delivery to the state was predicted for Wednesday by one University official. However, the capital improvements request will be delayed for several weeks, it was noted.

In 1965 the University requested $42,173,012 in state tax funds for operating expenses for 1965-67, but the Legislature only approved $35,131,904.

Refuse Estimate

University officials refused to estimate the amount to be requested either for the operational budget or capital improvements.

The Regents did not discuss any budget requests during the public meeting.

In other action Monday the Regents approved changing the name of the Memorial Research Laboratory Building at the NU College of Medicine in Omaha to Shackelford Memorial Laboratory in honor of Dr. James Madison Shackelford.

Shackelford's daughters have contributed very large sums, amounting to some $1.8 million, for research as well as other grants to the University in his honor, Dean Cecil L. Wittson told the Regents.

Refugee Tuition

The board also approved a recommendation from Vice Chancellor Robert G. Ross to grant resident tuition privileges to refugee Cubans for the fall semester if they are a graduate of a Nebraska high school and declare an intent to live in the state.

About 18 University students, already registered, would be affected, according to Ross.

The George Cook Construction Co. of Lincoln was conditionally awarded the general contract to build a new physical education building for women near 14th and Vine Sts. for $1,377,777. The low bid of Cook's was about four per cent over the architect's estimate, it was reported.

Regents conditionally awarded the mechanical contract for the physical education building to Ray Martin Co. for $381,600 and the electrical contract to Energy Electric Co. for $104,470. Both are Lincoln firms.

The 80,000 square-foot building is scheduled for completion in the spring of 1968. It will include a regulation size swimming pool, exercise area for individual sports, gymnastics and dance, a multipurpose room, two classrooms, offices, departmental library and storage areas.

The $2.1 million building will be financed with a $714,000 federal grant, pending U.S. Department of Housing approval, and state funds.

Other contracts awarded Monday by the Regents included:

—$25,280 to Commonwealth Electric Co. for underground electrical ducts and manholes.

—$126,333.50 to Okonite Co. of New Jersey for electrical cable.

—$29,584 for electrical oil fuse cutouts and load break oil switches on city campus.

—$116,000 to Schneider Electrical and Equipment Co. of Omaha for power transformer and outdoor switchgear.

—$117,473 to Olson Construction Co. of Lincoln for general contract of utility tunnel to new residence hall complex.

—$29,400 to Nalton and Co. of Lincoln for mechanical contract of tunnel.

—$11,250 to Picker X-Ray Mid-West Inc. for College of Medicine X-ray machine.

—$19,500 to Consolidated International Corp. for used, reconditioned air-station automatic binding unit for Printing Division.

Dr. Raun To Head Entomology Dept.

Dr. Earle S. Raun, former associate professor at Iowa State University at Ames, Monday was named professor and chairman of the University of Nebraska's department of entomology by the Board of Regents.

Raun succeeds Dr. Roscoe E. Hill who has served as department chairman since 1950.

Dr. Raun is a research entomologist for the U.S. Department of Agriculture and has been author or co-author of more than 66 publications and technical articles in the field of entomology. He holds three degrees from Iowa State University.

Dr. David H. Kelley, associate professor of entomology, received the additional assignment of acting chairman of the department of entomology in Regents action.

University Chancellor Clifford Hardin, commenting during personnel action at the Regents meeting, noted the hiring of a "large number of people at the instructor rank to handle this large enrollment."

A total of 19 new full-time instructors were appointed just to teach English.

Other full-time appointments included:

—Dr. Waldemar J. Molise to associate professor of entomology, former forage extension specialist at the University of Maryland.

—Dr. Lee Albert Witters, to assistant professor of secondary education, former counselor in Grand Island Public Schools.

—Dr. Monte M. Pate to assistant professor of psychology, former research and teaching assistant at University of Oklahoma.

—Dr. Phillip Hugh Scribner to assistant professor of philosophy, former instructor at Johns Hopkins University.

—Jack Chester Bots to assistant professor of journalism, former wire editor for Lincoln Journal.

Loup Seeks Change In Hearing Date

Loup River Public Power District Monday asked the Nebraska Power Review Board to postpone its scheduled hearing on Loup's application to construct a 345-kilovolt electric transmission line from Grand Island to Omaha.

The board has scheduled the hearing for Sept. 21. Loup asked that the date be changed in a motion for continuance.

A formal protest to Loup's application has been filed by the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Co-operative.

Britain's Reds Criticize China

London (AP) — Britain's small Communist Party came out Monday night with a blast against China and described its Red Guards as harmful to communism.

"The so-called Proletarian Cultural Revolution and the activities of the Red Guards are completely alien to the communist movement and are harmful to the cause of communism everywhere," said a statement from the party press office.

Eastern Sales Planned

Farnborough, England (AP) — Manufacturers of Britain's Trident medium range jet-liner are planning a major sales campaign in communist Eastern Europe.

NO INTEGRATION FOR HIM

A white mother nudges her son past a group of Negroes arriving for classes at a formerly all-white Boothville-Venice High School as racial barriers fell in Plaquemines Parish, La., Monday. Only one incident was reported as 173 Negro children registered for classes; about 1,200 of the parish's 5,400 white pupils appeared.

CALLAN SIGNS CAMPAIGN PACT

Rep. Clair Callan, D-Nebr., announced in Washington Monday he has signed and returned the code of fair campaign practices of the Fair Campaign Practices Committee, Inc.

The bipartisan committee headquartered in Washington investigates improper political campaign practices and seeks to improve the level of political campaigns throughout the country.

"With the important issues facing our nation today, it is more important than ever that candidates for high public office wage campaigns which are honest, to the point, and directed to issues rather than personalities or other unfair or irrelevant matters," Callan commented.

Rental Fees Increased On State School Lands

The State Board of Educational Lands and Funds Monday imposed rental fee hikes averaging 44.6% on more than 130,000 acres of state-owned school land in six Nebraska counties.

The board approved reappraisals for school lands in Brown, Buffalo, Dundee, Howard, Rock and Sherman counties for rental purposes. The new land values will go into effect Jan. 1.

The new values will require a total annual rental payment of $279,144 from leases, whereas the present total charge is $193,032.

State law requires that the rental fee of 6% of appraised value of each tract be lowered to 4% on tracts which are subjected to valuation changes.

Board Secretary John P. Olson said lease holders affected by the new valuations will have an opportunity to voice their views on the reappraisal work before Jan. 1.

The reappraisals, conducted by the board's staff, increased the value of the 130,355 acres of school land in the six counties from $3,240,256 to $6,978,680.

The new values will be used as the starting bid for tracts which will go on the auction block under a 1965 law authorizing the sale of Nebraska's 1.6 million acres of school land and current leases expire.

The state board also adopted new valuation schedules for school lands in Hayes, Chase, Perkins, Keya Paha, Lincoln, Frontier, Sioux and Holt counties. The impact on rental charges in those counties will be learned at the next board meeting.

The breakdown for the six counties, showing number of acres involved, present valuation and rental fee, and new valuation and rental fee:

BROWN—41,700 acres; $944,160 requiring $35,716 in rental fees now; $2,211,270 requiring $89,794 in rental fees beginning Jan. 1.

BUFFALO—7,500 acres; $278,210 requiring $16,691; $529,703 requiring $31,190.

DUNDY—22,288 acres; $563,270 requiring $33,796; $1,531,185 requiring $90,850.

HOWARD—5,419 acres; $158,060 requiring $9,481; $356,225 requiring $21,249.

ROCK—35,286 acres; $946,210 requiring $50,159; $1,633,415 requiring $71,328.

SHERMAN—7,502 acres; $219,770 requiring $14,986; $452,920 requiring $19,716.

In other action, the board invested $860,000 obtained from school land rental charges in government bonds at a record net yield of 5.63% over the eight-year period of the bonds.

Board members called the interest yield "spectacular" and the highest ever received from investment of school land rental receipts.

The bonds will mature in 1974.

Finn Diplomat Dies

Helsinki (UPI) — The chief of Finland's presidential office, Ambassador Eero A. Vuori, died from injuries sustained in a fall last week. He was a former minister of communications and ambassador of Moscow, London and Stockholm.

What should you ask of a bottle of whiskey?

Taste that suits you. Flavor that mixes well. Quality you can be proud to serve to anyone... any time.

We don't think that's too much to ask. That's why we make Seagram's 7 Crown the way we do. Which could be the reason it's the most popular whiskey in the world.

Seagram's 7 Crown The Sure One

Seagram Distillers Company, New York City. Blended Whiskey. 86 Proof. 65% Grain Neutral Spirits.
